

U.S. WON'T PULL OUT

Johnson Links Peace, Honor

... ALTERS TV PERSONALITY

Washington (AP)—Sporting a new television personality, President Johnson served notice anew Friday that the United States will not quit Vietnam without an honorable peace, regardless of homefront dissent.

He said "we are pleased with the results we are getting" in the war and reported that the military leadership anticipates no need to increase the present authorized troop commitment of 525,000.

How He Says It

But perhaps the biggest news in a 37-minute East Room news conference, broadcast live by the television and radio networks, was not so much what the President said as how he said it.

Trying out something new, Johnson wore a microphone around his neck. That allowed him to leave his rostrum and move about informally, waving his arms and whacking his fists together for emphasis.

His spirited performance added up to an impromptu speech to the American people on Vietnam, the economy, politics and the evils of irresponsible dissent.

Opposes Bullying

While saying he defends the right to responsible dissent, Johnson emphasized several times his opposition to "storm trooper bullying"—as when demonstrators block streets, smash windows, shout down public speakers and engage in rowdiness.

That sort of thing, Johnson asserted, should be "wiped out."

In general the chief executive's assessment of the Vietnam war was optimistic. But he said Americans want contests decided quickly, whether they are wars, elections or football games.

"That is not the kind of war we are fighting in Vietnam," he added, and moved his right arm in a gradual upward arc to indicate progress has been slow but steady.

If President Ho Chi Minh of North Vietnam doubts America's staying power, he said, "I want to disillusion him this morning."

He went on: "We keep our commitments. Our people are going to support the men who are there. The men are going to bring us an honorable peace."

In response to a question, Johnson said Hanoi will make "a serious misjudgment" if it believes some other president would pull out and make "an inside deal."

But he wouldn't say whether he will seek re-election in 1968.

Johnson was equally non-committal when asked about the political impact of a potential Democratic presidential primary campaign next spring by Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy of Minnesota.

Background

Johnson spent considerable time tracing the historical roots of dissent against other presidents in war and peace.

"That seems to be one of the things that goes with the job," he said. "The President is more or less a lightning rod."

There has been dissent, in all crises, foreign and domestic, and "a president learns to expect them and to live with them," he said.

One Good Job

In one of his several joking remarks, he declared:

"If I have done a good job of anything since I have been President, it is to insure that there are plenty of dissenters."

Johnson had no hopeful words about prospects for a Vietnam peace. He said Hanoi's statements this week "should answer any person in this country who has ever felt that stopping the bombing alone would bring us to the negotiating table."

Neither did he claim the war has gone always as he would like.

No Sign At All

Asked about the prospects for higher taxes, Johnson said he had "no indication whatever" that the tax bill is likely to get out of the House Ways and Means Committee this year.

Mentioning House Republican leader Gerald Ford of Michigan and the Democratic committee chairman, Wilbur Mills of Arkansas, the President declared:

"They will live to regret the day when they made that decision (to bottle up the tax bill) because it is a dangerous decision. It is an unwise decision."

Of course, he said, no one would tell a poll taker that he wants to pay higher taxes. But he said the American people are equally opposed to inflation and big federal budget deficits.

Marijuana Said Taken In Local Raid

Lincoln police early Saturday morning were reported to have arrested several persons in connection with an incident involving possession of marijuana.

Police declined to give details, but it was understood that about half a dozen persons were brought to police headquarters following a raid on a southwest Lincoln residence.

Officers indicated that about half a pound of marijuana was thrown out a window of the house when a policeman knocked at the front door shortly after 1 a.m. Saturday.

Mexico Estimates Cost

Mexico City (AP)—Organizing committee officials estimate Mexico will spend more than $80 million on the 1968 Olympics here. The chief administrative officer, Enrique Alvarez de Castillo, said anticipated revenue from tickets, concessions and other sources would bring $32 million and all the buildings will be used somehow after the games.

The moderate proposal also suggested land reform in a program where "the land in the country would be given to the cultivators of that land and the landlord, fully com-the slaughter of diseased animals and unsanitary conditions in intra-state meat traffic.

"I could count on one hand the states that have decent meat inspection, and if you want to see a pretty bad picture check the USDA for reports of inspections that show what conditions exist in the intra-state handling of meat," said Freeman.

Nebraska Sens. Roman Hruska and Carl T. Curtis caused the secretary to remark in the discussion on meat imports, "They never forget being Republicans and color their remarks with a depth of politics without regard for the truth."

Freeman expressed concern over low farm prices and recommended that farmers store their grain and not sell at depressed prices.

Freeman declared the need for a stronger meat inspection law is a must to curb and people can come with a renewal of the American countryside with the development of "communities of tomorrow for the year 2,000."

Freeman said the greatest challenge facing the nation is to check the rush of people to metropolitan centers that is continuing at the rate of 500,000 to 600,000 a year.

DRIVING COURSE . . . Trooper Buist teaches senior citizens.

Oldsters Study Driving

By MILAN WALL
Star Staff Writer

Fifty proud senior citizens graduated Friday morning from one of many "defensive driving" courses being offered across the state through the cooperation of the Nebraska State Patrol.

The graduates of Friday's unique senior citizens class expressed overwhelming approval for the course.

R. E. Dillinger of 1045 Elmwood was a 78-year old "two-timer" at the course. Dillinger said he found the course as worthwhile the second time around.

"They can say what they want to," he stated, "but it's worth your money and more too. All you have to do is abide by it."

Paul Mock, 78, of 4340 F, also expressed satisfaction over the course. "If everyone would drive defensively," he predicted, "we wouldn't have accidents."

Mock said although he had never taken a driving test, he now has the confidence that he can pass it.

Mrs. Mary Clark of 330 No. 29th admitted she thought she knew how to drive before taking the course. "The course brings out all that you don't think of," she emphasized.

One anonymous commenter said the course "points up to this age group that they aren't as alert as they once were."

Tests Planned

The Lancaster County Extension Service, the local sponsoring agency, is offering a post session to the senior citizens who took the course to see if they can successfully complete a written test and the eye examination.

The post session, to be held on Nov. 27, will also test the reaction time, an important "driver condition" factor in defensive driving.

County Extension Agent Esther Kreifels noted that the course has been offered ten times in Lincoln. She said the course has been so successful that over 50 persons are waiting now for the next session to begin.

Open To All

The course, designed by the National Safety Council, is offered periodically to any interested drivers wishing to increase their driving skills.

The cost of the course is $4.00 and pupils are required to attend eight hours of class to receive their graduating certificate.

According to Trooper Jack Buist of the Nebraska State Patrol, the law requiring re-examination of all drivers in the state spearheaded the course.

This year alone, he noted, some 35,000 Nebraskans enrolled in over 90 classes offered throughout the state.

"The program has met with good success," said Trooper Buist, "and I enjoy teaching it." Buist is one of seven patrolmen who volunteer their time to teach the course.

Aid Appropriation Lowest In History

Washington (AP)—The House brushed aside pleas from President Johnson Friday and passed the lowest foreign-aid appropriation bill in the 20-year history of the program. The $2.19 billion money bill includes provisions designed to restrict the purchases of modern weapons by underdeveloped nations receiving aid money.

A 167-143 roll-call vote sent the bill to the Senate.

Johnson had asked $3.22 billion for the controversial aid program which the House Appropriations Committee sliced a record 32%. The actual money compares with a previous authorization ceiling set by Congress of $2.67 billion.

The President, in his news conference earlier in the day, said that when the richest nation on earth is enjoying great prosperity and Congress cuts what he called a very low aid request, "I think it is a mistake, I think it's a serious mistake."

Provisions sponsored by Rep. Silvio O. Conte, R-Mass., relating to weapons purchases were held in the bill during two days of debate.

They would curb purchases of sophisticated weapons such as jet aircraft and missile systems by underdeveloped countries by withholding economic aid from such nations in the amount they spend for the purchases. They also would bar use of any military-aid funds for similar purchases.

Exempted from the restrictions would be Greece, Turkey, Iran, Israel, the Republic of China, the Philippines and Korea.

Fumes Hurt 35 Workers

Grand Island (AP) — Thirty-five workers in the Cornhusker Army Ammunition Plant at Grand Island were taken to a Grand Island hospital Friday night suffering from inhalation of toxic fumes.

It was the second night in a row that workers have been felled by the fumes which apparently come from a material used in the manufacture of anti-personnel mines.

Thursday night 22 women workers were taken to a hospital.

There was no immediate reports available as to the condition of Friday night's victims, however, plant spokesmen said none was thought to be serious.

Freeman Hits Corporations' Entry Into Farming

By GLENN KREUSCHER
Farm Editor

Omaha—Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman here Friday night termed the accelerated entrance of non-farm corporations into agriculture as a "misuse of economic power of a few and a concentration of power in the market place that is of increasing concern to the U.S. Department of Agriculture."

Freeman was in Omaha to address a six-state Mid-America Lutheran evangelism conference on the revolution facing Mid-America agriculture.

Freeman said the greatest challenge facing the nation is to check the rush of people to metropolitan centers that is continuing at the rate of 500,000 to 600,000 a year.

He said the answer to correcting this imbalance of land and people can come with a renewal of the American countryside with the development of "communities of tomorrow for the year 2,000."

FREEMAN . . . corporations' misuse economic power.

This he described as a broadly based community patterned after geographic and trade lines that might include a number of counties surrounding a city of 50,000 or more population.

Here industries, jobs, culture, recreation, medical and educational centers could be matched with prosperous farms, he stated.

Freeman said current farm prices demonstrate the need for farm programs. "Without them farmers would be at the mercy of a market plagued by over production causing low prices," he declared.

He described farm prices now at a 20-year low with production costs up a third as a "shocking relationship" to prices in other industries.

Freeman declared the need for a stronger meat inspection law is a must to curb the slaughter of diseased animals and unsanitary conditions in intra-state meat traffic.

"I could count on one hand the states that have decent meat inspection, and if you want to see a pretty bad picture check the USDA for reports of inspections that show what conditions exist in the intra-state handling of meat," said Freeman.

Young Demos Appear Ready To OK Moderate Viet Stand

Hollywood, Fla. (AP) — A moderate Vietnam resolution suggesting a new drive for peace negotiations based on land reform and a bombing pause seemed headed for passage Friday at the convention of Young Democratic Clubs of America.

But backers of the proposal, which supports President Johnson's actions in seeking an end to the war, said the draft apparently would fail its main purpose, to keep a minority dove coalition from setting up a bitter floor fight on its unbending peace statement.

Hawks and moderates among the Democrats under the age of 40 here joined to pass the majority statement in a 17-5 vote of the international affairs resolutions subcommittee at a six-hour session that lasted until 3 a.m. Friday.

Pause First Step

That majority statement, which was expected to pass the full committee late Friday for submission to the convention, "suggests for the consideration of the President as a possible basis for negotiation" a series of steps beginning with a pause in the bombing of North Vietnam.

The measure said, "A lasting solution (in Southeast Asia) must be based on a negotiated peace."

The Young Democrats encourage all efforts of the President to reach a negotiated settlement and we are a part of the responsible majority of the American public who support the past and future efforts in this direction," the draft said.

Land Reform

The moderate proposal also suggested land reform in a program where "the land in the country would be given to the cultivators of that land and the landlord, fully compensated for their land." Vietnamese farmers now pay a percentage of each crop as rent for the land.

The moderate draft, a combination of proposals by Washington, Texas and Florida, also said negotiations could only be based on a bilateral ceasefire, that is if both sides stopped shooting.

All But Ultradoves

"This has the support of everybody except the ultras," said Lem Howell of Seattle, Wash., a member of the committee. "But I think they'll get the votes anyway for a minority report, unfortunately."

Party officials had urged passage of a statement on the war that would not in their words "embarrass the President."

Meanwhile, the coalition of peace forces headed by Alan Reed, assistant professor of political science at the University of Nebraska, who is a candidate for YD president, stood behind a resolution submitted by Joseph Berlant of Union College, Schenectady, N.Y.

The doves' statement demanded an immediate unconditional halt of bombing in North Vietnam to "substantially improve prospects of negotiation while also serving humanitarian purpose of limiting civilian casualties." It also called for a freeze in allied troop strength, relaxation of bombing in the South and a call for negotiations that would include representatives of the Viet Cong.

20% Of U.S. Population 'Still Living In Ghettos'

The great economic boom that this country has experienced during the past 81 months only applies to 80% of the 200-million citizens of the United States, H. S. Brown, president of the Texas AFL-CIO, told the Lincoln Central Labor Union members at a banquet Friday night.

"Twenty per cent of our population is living in ghettos of poor and impoverished housing, lack adequate medical care and have access to only a second class education," he said.

Brown said that Texas and eighteen other states have enacted right-to-work laws and campaigns are being fought in half a dozen others to outlaw free collective bargaining.

Organize, Educate

"Our answer to the right wing organizations is to organize and educate," said Brown.

But Brown said that the labor movement must do more than pray for better ways. It must take the initiative and crusade in behalf of the poor, he explained.

Brown told the crowd that this is no Southern problem. "Too Little"

"The racist disorders in Chicago, Milwaukee and Houston are the same kind of problem of too little, too late," he said.

Even though President Johnson isn't the most popular candidate with the American public he is a better President than would be Ronald Reagan, who has assigned prison labor to compete with free men, or George Romney, who has weakened the unemployment and workmen's compensation laws in Michigan, Brown charged.

The President of the United States does not necessarily have to be liked, Brown said, warning that the future welfare of working men is at stake in the 1968 elections.

London—Britain was reported to be on the brink of devaluation or of steps toward a siege economy. Confronted with the need for immediate action, the government faced a fearful day in the foreign exchange markets as the country's reserves poured out by the millions. The cabinet was expected to reach a decision over the weekend. (More on Page 2)

Johnson Warns Hanoi

Washington — Hanoi was publicly warned by President Johnson not to expect easier peace terms from any U.S. president, even after the 1968 elections. In a spirited, arm-waving defense of his Vietnam policy, the President said at a Washington news conference that the allies were making "satisfactory progress" in the war. He affirmed American determination to find an honorable peace, but emphasized that "we keep our commitments" spite domestic dissent. (More on Page 1)

'Storm-Trooper Bullying' Hit

Washington—President Johnson answered his critics at a news conference that was dominated by the issue of dissent. His voice rising in anger, the President assailed "storm-trooper bullying" by demonstrators. But he emphasized that he had never questioned anyone's patriotism or motives. Everyone, he said, must judge for himself whether the dissent being voiced was in the national interest or dangerous to it. (More on Page 1)

House Cuts Aid Money

Washington — Disregarding a presidential warning that it was making a "serious mistake," the House voted to reduce foreign aid to $2.2 billion for the fiscal year ending June 30. (More on Page 1)

LBj Alters TV Style

Washington—At his news conference, President Johnson unveiled a free-swinging television style that set Washington talking. The key to the new technique was a portable microphone under his coat that permitted him to walk up and down in front of the television cameras. Political friends and enemies speculated that the new presidential style signaled the beginning of an offensive leading toward next year's election. (More on Page 1)

No Tax Sign Seen

Washington — President Johnson conceded that there was "no indication whatever" that Congress would enact a tax increase this year. But he warned members of Congress that they would regret their "dangerous" and "unwise" decision to block the proposed tax increase. If taxes are not increased, he said, the budget deficit for this year might reach $35 billion. (More on Page 1)

Protest Becomes Riot

Philadelphia—A Black Power demonstration turned into a riot as more than 3,500 students from 10 predominantly Negro high schools demonstrated against the supposed suspension of 16 students. The demonstrators threw rocks, upset barricades, assaulted passersby and battled 400 policemen. Order was restored after 58 persons were arrested and three or four injured. (More on Page 11)

Two Strategic Hills At Dak To Seized

Saigon (AP) — American troops drove North Vietnamese regulars from two strategic heights below Dak To Friday and South Vietnamese riflemen fought for control of another peak northeast of that embattled central highlands town.

The battered Communists struck back Friday night with rocket and mortar barrages.

Far to the south, the Viet Cong made headlong attack on two artillery bases of the U.S. 9th Infantry division 60 miles southwest of Saigon.

American artillerymen lowered their guns and fired point blank at the charging Communists, who reached within 25 yards of the outer lines. After the charge was repulsed, U.S. officers counted 67 enemy dead. American losses were 17 wounded.

Hill 1338

In the central highlands, the major victory was on Hill 1338, named for its height in meters, four miles south of the Dak To air strip. The U.S. command said 41 North Vietnamese were killed and one captured. U.S. casualties were 8 killed and 31 wounded.

Reports from the field said the Communists after dark poured mortar and rocket fire on a battalion base of the 4th Division's 12th Regiment, five miles southwest of Dak To and a mile from Hill 1338. Casualties, if any, were not reported.

The fighting coincided with two firsts in the air war.

U.S. fighter-bombers raided the previously exempt Bach Mai airfield at Hanoi, a secondary strip a mile south of the center of the North Vietnamese capital. They also hit a barge yard for the first time three miles southeast of the center of Hanoi.

2 MIG's Seen

U.S. headquarters said two MIG 21s were sighted during the strikes but reported no engagements.

During other raids over the North Friday, headquarters said, a Navy A5 Skyhawk was downed by enemy ground fire.

The order from his battalion commander to Capt. Donald M. Sher, leading one of two companies of the 3rd Battalion, 12th Regiment, 4th Infantry Division, was explicit:

"I don't want you to pull back off the hill unless you're kicked off."

Bloody Battle

In bloody fighting on the hill, U.S. infantrymen wiped out the prospect that the North Vietnamese would employ rockets or other long-range weapons on the crest to shell allied installations in the central highlands battle now in its third week.

'Dozens' Killed, Hurt

Hanoi's official Vietnam News Agency declared wave after wave of U.S. planes raided populated quarters of the capital, killing or wounding "dozens of people."

A broadcast dispatch said missiles were fired on the diplomatic quarter and one Indian was killed and another wounded. The two were reported to be members of India's delegation on the three-nation International Control Commission, set up in the Geneva agreement of 1954.

The East German news agency ADN, in a Hanoi dispatch made public in Berlin, said the commission's Hanoi building was hit. It said the Indian killed was Mangal Chand, a member of the commission, and the wounded man was an Indian soldier.

Hanoi said six planes were shot down. There was no American confirmation.

Against Red Fire

About 300 U.S. riflemen, toiling up through machine-gun and sniper fire, seized the crest of Hill 1338, actually a mountain rising more than three-quarters of a mile above sea level in the Annamite range that is Vietnam's backbone.

A battalion of North Vietnamese, perhaps 500 men, gave way and presumably fled south under the fire of the infantrymen and the greater fire from supporting elements — massive artillery barrages and bombing and napalming by jet planes.

Col. Richard Johnson of Beaumont, Tex., a brigade commander, said the North Vietnamese were hiding something up there that they didn't want Americans to see.

"All the bodies we've found have been stripped clean," he said. "I think those soldiers were from the rocket regiment."

The rocket regiment is Hanoi's 40th. It has been involved in the Dak To sector along with four North Vietnamese infantry regiments, the whole totaling perhaps 8,000 men against an allied force of about 10,000.

Salute Exposes

'I Hate The Navy'

Portsmouth, England (AP) — The Royal Navy, a model of tradition and discipline, has a tattooed sailor who poses a problem for which there is no antidote in regulations, surgeon Capt. Ronald Scutt reported in a study on the prevalence and content of the salty old tattoo phenomenon.

Scutt found that every time the sailor's right arm pops up in salute he exposes indelibly a script reading: "I hate the navy."

'68 Sugar Program To Cut Marketing In United States

Washington (AP) — Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman proposed Friday a sugar control program for 1968 which would limit marketings in the United States to 10,400,000 tons, raw value. This compares with 10,800,000 tons being allowed to move into this market this year.

Of the total, 3,025,000 tons would be allocated to domestic sugar beet producing areas; 1,100,000 tons to mainland cane producers, 1,265,375 tons to Hawaii, 1,140,000 tons to Puerto Rico, and 125,000 tons to the Virgin Islands.

THEY'RE TOGETHER AGAIN

Little Tod Plancan was safe in his parents' arms Friday. The 22-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. William Plancan of Fairfield, Conn., was abducted in his mother's car by a teenager Thursday. Early Friday the baby was found on the porch of a Fairfield house, unharmed.

Bolivia Hands French Pal Of Fidel 30 Years

(C) New York Times Service

Camiri, Bolivia—Jules Regis DeBray, French intellectual and confidant of Premier Fidel Castro of Cuba, was convicted Friday of participation in the late Ernesto Che Guevara's guerrilla movement and sentenced to 30 years in a Bolivian military prison.

Ciro Bustos, an Argentine artist who came here in March to join the Guevara movement and was captured with DeBray in April, also received the maximum 30-year sentence.

Four other defendants, all Bolivians, who had formed part of the guerrilla movement or collaborated with Guevara in the hills, were absolved by the court.

DeBray, who won honors as a student of philosophy in France, stood silently at the end of the row of the six defendants facing the five colonels in gray uniforms who made up the court, which has been sitting here since Sept. 26.

He appeared resigned, but the muscles in his jaws worked and his fingers drummed at his gray pants leg as the long sentence was read. Both he and Bustos were charged with rebellion, murder, assault and robbery.

Man Arrested Trying To Cash 'Stolen' Bonds

Omaha (AP) — A man who gave his name as John Polansky of Bayonne, N.J., was arrested here Friday as he attempted to cash three government bonds thought to have been taken in a $125,000 burglary in Bayonne, Oct. 18.

The man at first refused to identify himself, but when taken before U.S. Commissioner Richard E. Peck on a charge of forging an endorsement on United States bonds, he gave the name John Polansky.

His bond was set at $25,000 and he was given a continuance until next Friday so he could obtain an attorney.

Richard Roth, special agent in charge of the Secret Service office here, said all Secret Service offices had been notified of the bond burglary shortly after it occurred and he notified all banks in the area. He said he was notified Friday that a man was attempting to cash one of the bonds listed at the First National Bank.

Roth, agent John Massa and Omaha police arrested the man in the act of attempting to cash three bonds. Roth said three similar bonds not yet endorsed were found on the man along with about $5,000 in cash.

He said the man signed the name of Aron Cohen. It was Cohen's home that was burglarized of about $125,000 in bonds Oct. 18.

Roth said he had been informed that other bonds from the burglary had been cashed in Wichita, Kan., and Indianapolis, Ind., and most recently, in Kansas City Tuesday.

Russell Blumenthal, chief assistant United States attorney, indicated that additional charges might be filed against the man later.

Judge Charles E. Wyzanski Jr., in a 58-minute charge, warned the 11 men and one woman jury that the defendants must be proved guilty "beyond a reasonable doubt."

Wyzanski in his charge said the 13 prosecution witnesses may have been "led down the path of identification" of the defendants. And, he asked, "how far, either through stupidity or intent, did they (postal inspectors) narrow down the field of suspects?"

He asked the jury to consider the reliability of the witnesses by taking into consideration their powers of observation, memories, ability to express themselves, their awareness of the effect of their testimony on the case and their motivation.

Large Rewards

"You have been told by the government that these were disinterested witnesses," the judge said. "Do you really believe there were disinterested witnesses? Many of them knew there were rewards of up to $150,000 offered for solution of the case."

"Is this not a situation in which motive must be weighed?"

The prosecution charged that Kelley was one of two gunmen who, as part of a well rehearsed gang, held up the mail truck on an isolated stretch of Route 3 in Plymouth, one of the main highways between Boston and Cape Cod.

The cash, totaling $1,551,277, was being transferred from Cape Cod banks to Boston for deposit in the Federal Reserve Bank.

Remote Area

The thieves bound and gagged the two-man crew on the truck and then drove it to a remote part of Route 128 in nearby Randolph.

A third defendant, Thomas R. Richards, 41, of Weymouth, was scheduled to stand trial with Kelley and Mrs. Diaferio. He vanished about two weeks ago after leaving home apparently to go to work as an electrician.

A federal warrant was issued for his arrest when he failed to show up for trial.

Swiss Want Time Limit On Nuclear Agreement

(C) New York Times Service

Geneva — Neutral Switzerland aligned herself Friday with Italy and Japan against the United States-Soviet position that the proposed nuclear nonproliferation treaty should be of unlimited duration.

In a memorandum submitted to the U.S. and the Soviet Union, co-chairmen of the Geneva Disarmament Conference, the Swiss government said it would be desirable that the proposed treaty be valid only for a fixed number of years.

Explaining Switzerland's desire for a time-limit, Willy Spuehler, the Swiss foreign minister, told newsmen in Bern that in view of the development of nuclear science in the last 10 or 20 years it would be impossible to predict the nuclear future.

Foreign ministry sources emphasized that these and other requests for changes in the draft treaty submitted by the U.S. and the Soviet Union were merely provisional. They said that Switzerland hoped a satisfactory nonproliferation treaty would be concluded but would not decide whether to sign until it was in final form.

Since Switzerland is not a member of the disarmament conference or the U.N., they added, the Swiss government wanted to inform the conference of its position before a final draft was approved. The text of the memorandum will be made public Sunday.

Although Switzerland is one of the half-dozen powers that could produce nuclear weapons with a minimum of difficulty, Friday's memorandum was the first government statement on the nonproliferation issue. The numerous changes it recommended strengthened the belief of disarmament experts here that Switzerland will consider the pros and cons very carefully before signing.

Resolutions Aim At Wheat Price Drop

NLRB-Type Board, Farm Council Urged

Alliance (P) — The Wyoming-Nebraska Wheat Growers Association zeroed in on sagging wheat prices in six resolutions adopted at the closing session of the 14th annual convention.

The resolutions called for continuation of the domestic certificate program and extending it to wheat exports to provide a certificate payment of at least 65 cents a bushel on exports.

They also called for adoption of national marketing control measures including an NLRB-type board, organization of a Nebraska Farm Council as an interim organization embracing all farm organizations in the state, and continued efforts toward a single organization representing the entire wheat industry.

Still another resolution called for national legislation which would prevent the application of agriculture losses to other businesses operated by the owner in order to offset income taxes.

Johannsen Elected

The wheat growers elected Frank Johannsen of Bayard to a vice presidency and re-elected other officers for one-year terms. They are Ray Davis, Potter, president; Harold Tremain, Sidney, Victor Haas, Hemingford; and Ervain Friehe, McCook, vice presidents.

The Wheathearts, ladies auxiliary to the wheat growers, re-elected all officers: Mrs. Robert Ankeny, Dalton, president, Mrs. Johannsen, vice president, Mrs. Richard Lewis, Holbrook, vice president; and Mrs. Ray Davis secretary-treasurer.

POTTER LASS WHEAT QUEEN

Alliance (P) — Patrice Annette Herboldsheimer, 17, a senior at Potter High School, was crowned queen of the Nebraska and Wyoming Wheat Growers Association. Miss Herboldsheimer, a green-eyed blonde, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bennie Herboldsheimer of Potter.

First runner-up at the group's annual convention was Cynthia Jean Sullivan, 17, of Wallace. The second runner-up was Cynthia Rosalie McVicker, 19, of Gurley.

Miss Congeniality was Barbara Joyce Long, 18, a freshman at the University of Nebraska and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Long of Grant.

The new queen was crowned by Pamela Foster of Grant, this year's queen.

1964 Delegates Favor Nixon, AP Survey Discloses

Omaha (P) — Nebraska's delegates to the 1964 Republican national convention overwhelmingly prefer Richard Nixon as the party's 1968 standard-bearer, an Associated Press survey showed Friday.

Of all the potential GOP hopefuls, Nixon would have the best chance of defeating President Johnson, the delegates said.

Nixon could win "even with Rockefeller" as a running-mate, said one delegate who asked not to be identified. The Rockefeller he referred to is Gov. Nelson Rockefeller of New York.

Twelve of the 16 delegates responded to the AP poll. Of these, eight said they want Nixon for president. One prefers California Gov. Ronald Reagan and three others said it was too soon to decide.

Employment Practices In Accordance With State Law, Justice Dept. Rules

By VIRGIL FALLOON
Star Staff Writer

The State Justice Department ruled Friday the employment practices in the Douglas County election commissioner's office are currently in accordance with state law.

The findings, made in a formal opinion to Douglas County Atty. Donald Knowles, rebuffed a state Democratic party charge that too many Republicans are on the staff.

Atty. Gen. Clarence A. H. Meyer said a 1913 law governing the hiring practices of the election commissioners provides political affiliation of employees shall be in proportion to the number of votes cast for the Democratic and Republican candidates for governor in the last election.

He said a review of 1966 election returns shows Gov. Norbert T. Tiemann, the Republican candidate, received 58% of the vote while his Democratic opponent, Phil Sorenson, received 42%.

Thus, the attorney general concluded that Republican Election Commissioner Monte Taylor violated no law when he hired six GOP employees and four Democrats.

John Mitchell, state Democratic chairman, contends there should be at least five Democrats on the staff.

He said the law required apportionment of employees on the percentage of party members voting for the office of governor, and the votes cast have no bearing.

Will 'Study Opinion'

Mitchell called the attorney general's opinion "a strained construction" of the statutes, and the Democrats would "study the opinion carefully and take whatever appropriation may be necessary."

The attorney general has been wrong in the past, he said.

The attorney general's opinion found "no statutory provision authorizing the election commissioner to determine the percentage of voters who voted for the office of governor and who were members of the respective political parties."

"We are not convinced the election commissioner would ever be able to know the percentage of voters who were members of a given party, and who voted for the office of governor, unless he or his deputies went into the voting booths to observe the actions of the electors," it continued. "We doubt the 1913 Legisla-

Sports Car Crash Kills NU Students

Two University of Nebraska students were killed early Friday morning when the small sports car in which they were riding went out of control and flew into a group of trees in west Lincoln.

The victims were identified as Michael P. Iske, 22, of Springfield, and David H. Qualsett, 23, of Schuyler. Authorities Friday night were still attempting to determine which of the two was driving.

A witness said the car passed him at a high rate of speed and suddenly careened out of control near the 2500 block on West O St. The witness said the car veered to the right, struck an embankment and flew into the trees.

Both of the occupants were thrown from the car, which zoomed high enough to tear limbs off trees 12 feet from the ground.

Police said Iske died at the scene of the crash. Qualsett died some two hours after the 2 a.m. accident at a local hospital.

The deaths raised the 1967 Nebraska traffic fatality toll to 379, compared to 368 one year ago.

EVENTS

IN PERSPECTIVE

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

Politically knowledgeable people have predicted a real donnybrook if Nebraska implements substantial portions of the just released road management study. It doesn't take a very close look at the study to agree with these people.

No great conflict would come out of that part of the report which calls for changes in the organization and operation of the State Department of Roads. These are administrative changes which, in themselves, would not materially affect what is being done in the way of road construction.

Where the fur will fly is in the area of authority for the state department and in the area of distribution of state funds. In essence, the report of consulting engineers calls for great state control over roads and highways at all levels of government.

The report calls for the establishment of criteria in the construction of local streets and county roads and the distribution of state funds according to need rather than any fixed formula. What the report proposes is a more scientific, efficient and professional approach to road building at all levels of government.

This will run into two obstacles, one political and the other economic. Politically, there will be strong feelings against the state's assuming any control, even indirectly, over municipal and county street and highway work.

Economically, the report points the way to higher expenditures for streets and highways. The basic question here is whether the public is ready and willing to accept any increase in spending.

Such an increase is inevitable if we do what the report envisions, which is the establishment of firm objectives and the inauguration of professional competent standards. When the report is critical of past efforts, it does not recognize this past has been dictated by the availability of funds.

What the report wants, in the end, are streets and highways that come up to established standards and a quantity of work commensurate with the need. In other words, Lincoln should not be building a 44-foot-wide arterial street when 48 feet is considered to be the need.

By way of another specific example, the essence of the state report would dictate that Lincoln build a full freeway type of Northeast Diagonal rather than the much less expensive grade-crossing type of project. This is what is meant by building to adequate standards and building efficiently—so that the project serves the needs of the future as well as today.

But Lincoln has not built a freeway diagonal nor will it neglect to do so in the future because of ignorance. Those in authority know that the freeway design is by far the best thing to do for Lincoln.

But they don't know where they would get the $20 million to do it. That is the big stumbling block—the $20 million.

That would be the stumbling block that would loom up in front of Nebraska and its governmental subdivisions as they attempted to implement the report. They would find that the report demands an accelerated and higher quality program and the money would be hard to come by.

In the end, whether the report is given maximum impact will depend upon public willingness to invest in a better street and highway program. That is what an integrated administrative system and advance construction concepts are all about.

Meanwhile, there are things administratively that can be improved and some improvements that, commendably, have already been inaugurated by Gov. Norbert Tiemann's administration. But no one will ever find economies of such magnitude as to provide the additional funds needed to give real life to the state report.

Only the citizens of the state can give this life, by digging deeper into their pockets. This digging may be a long time in coming.

MARQUIS CHILDS

President Johnson, A Modified Picture

WASHINGTON—How does the President of the United States react when he reads day after day that his standing in the country has dropped to an all-time low?

Today — and this is the basic change—the President has arrived at a philosophic plateau of acceptance of the harsh realities he confronts. His attitude is colored with a certain fatalism. He no longer believes that he can tailor every situation to his own demands.

It follows that he is far less given to the explosions of temperament that send his staff into a state of shock. He is easier to work with. He shows flashes of humor that occasionally even turn on his own person.

The President no longer believes that by cajoling and coercing editors, columnists and publicists, he can shape public opinion and change his standing in the country. Johnson is more of a listener than at any time since he entered the White House.

This view of the new Johnson, from a friendly associate who has nevertheless in the past been relatively objective, does not signify that in any degree whatsoever the President has modified his stand on Vietnam. With all his drive and energy he intends to push, as he did this past week end, for unity behind what he believes is a limited war.

With the arrival in Washington of Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker from Saigon and Gen. William C. Westmoreland, the Vietnam commander, an awareness of flaws in the relationship between officialdom there and officialdom in this capital is coming into focus.

The President is justifiably proud that he was able to persuade a man of Bunker's ability and integrity to take the Saigon post. At the age of 73 at the end of a distinguished career, first in business and then in diplomacy, Bunker has nothing to gain except the sense of having served his country.

One flaw arises from the eager-beaverish nature of the Vietnam specialists both in the White House and the State Department. Instead of allowing him to pursue his independent course as he counsels the new South Vietnamese government in the hopeful direction of moderation and a broader popular acceptance, Bunker is harassed by a stream of telegrams coming from all and sundry. Under the rules of the game an "immediate cable" must be put in the hands of the recipient at once no matter what time it is received. The consequence is that Bunker is awakened two or three times a night by messages that often are irrelevant and trivial. This is hardly conducive to clear-headed labors in Saigon's steamy heat.

Given his philosophic outlook, if the picture of the new Johnson has validity, he could listen calmly to a tale of official well-intentioned harassment without taking it as a personal affront. He could put a stop to it and ease the incredibly difficult task of the man in the spot in Saigon.

'Didn't Seem To Convert So Well Into A Warship'

Always Place For Dissent

Cancel a duly called election? Establish a government bank for taxpayers? These are just two of the things that have been suggested in the past by Leo Bartunek, native Nebraskan and long-time Lincolnite, who died this week. He once suggested that an election simply be cancelled since only two of 11 races were contested. Some public officials privately agreed that the idea made some sense but the election was still held.

For the past two decades, Leo Bartunek has been a fixture in public life. He has sought elective office at every level of government from the state on down, including the courts. He never won election but he never stopped trying.

All public agencies knew Bartunek because he made it a point to appear before them on frequent occasions. He was considered a voice of dissent because he was frequently in opposition to matters that called for the expenditure of more tax funds.

Yet, he espoused a number of things that have come to pass. He was probably the first man to suggest a legal aid bureau along the lines we now have. He championed a liberalized Kerr-Mills bill for medical care for the aged and pushed for off-street parking programs at the County Courthouse and new Bennett S. Martin Library.

Bartunek was such an active man in government affairs that he often tested the patience of legislative and administrative bodies. And he tested the patience of people such as editors with whom he liked to visit about public affairs. With the press of so many affairs, his tenacity was sometimes difficult to accept.

Also, Bartunek was a frequent contributor to The Star's letter column. And sometimes this presented difficulties in maintaining a column free from domination by any one individual or group. Bartunek had a lot of faith in the column and enjoyed the comments he received on thoughts he would express in print.

Bartunek was more than a frequent letter writer. Every letter he submitted was grammatically perfect, was perfect in spelling and was neatly written or typed. But if it did not appear within several days after its submission, you could rely upon a call from the author to check the status of the communicate.

In the nature of his dissent, Bartunek opposed the city's inauguration of a wheel tax, was against establishment of the Lincoln Airport Authority and against urban renewal. One time, opposition developed to a candidate for county office on the grounds that the gentleman, at age 72, was too old to hold office. Bartunek came to his defense, suggesting that anyone too old to hold office is too old to pay taxes and should be declared exempt from them.

All of these things demonstrate that Bartunek was a man who never lost his concern for public affairs. He was not always right and at times he was too persistent but he served a good purpose. He was never known to be anything but well meant and he did serve in a watch-dog capacity for the average citizen.

Public officials could always rely on an interest by Bartunek in whatever they were doing and this undoubtedly made them a little more responsive to the voters. But more than this, Bartunek dissented without prejudice or personalities.

He took issue with many things but in the many years of his acquaintance, we never heard him say an evil thing about anyone. He was a man of kindness and gentleness, always keeping his remarks on the subject rather than the individual.

While frequently frustrated in his efforts of one kind and another, he never became bitter and never lost his sense of humor. He was sincere in what he did but he also could view himself with a twinkle in his eye.

It is for this that he will be missed—his dissent with reason and without vindictiveness. Bartunek has served his community to the most of his abilities and has given an example that many might follow in a number of ways.

Congressman's Rush On Hawaiian Junket Flattens Important Atomic Power Project

WASHINGTON—It was because one powerful congressman was in a hurry to start junketing to Hawaii that the famous atomic power project of the St. John's River in Maine was finally knocked out of the public works appropriations bill.

The congressman, Mike Kirwan of Youngstown, Ohio, a power in Democratic councils, wanted to leave with his friend, Rep. John Rhodes, the Arizona Republican, to "inspect" public works in Hawaii and attend the National Reclamation Association convention—all at government expense.

The House and Senate had been deadlocked over the Dickey-Lincoln public power project in Maine for which the Johnson administration had recommended $875,000 to get underway. The Senate had voted for this start.

The House, however, was opposed. The opposition was led by none other than Rep. Kirwan, the man who has proposed a $3 billion canal between Youngstown, his hometown, and Pittsburgh on the Ohio River. Kirwan has bulldozed Congress into voting $500,000 to study his project. Despite this he was adamantly opposed to having money voted to start the St. John's River project in Maine.

And since Mike is chairman of the Democratic campaign committee which allocates campaign funds to House Democrats, he can sway a lot of votes on the House side of Capitol Hill. He did so in the case of the Dickey-Lincoln public power project.

For a long time the Senate refused to go along with him. But when Mike warned the House "we will be here until the Fourth of July" before he'd yield, the Senate surrendered and accepted a compromise conference bill

TSIOLKOVSKY

Profiles In Science

Konstantin Tsiolkovsky (1857-1935) laid the scientific groundwork for the space age.

Tsiolkovsky was born in Russia in the age of the czars and lived into the modern era. He was the son of an inventor who could not make a living with his many ingenious inventions and worked for the Russian government as a forester to keep his family. The boy and his brothers and sisters were taught at home by their mother.

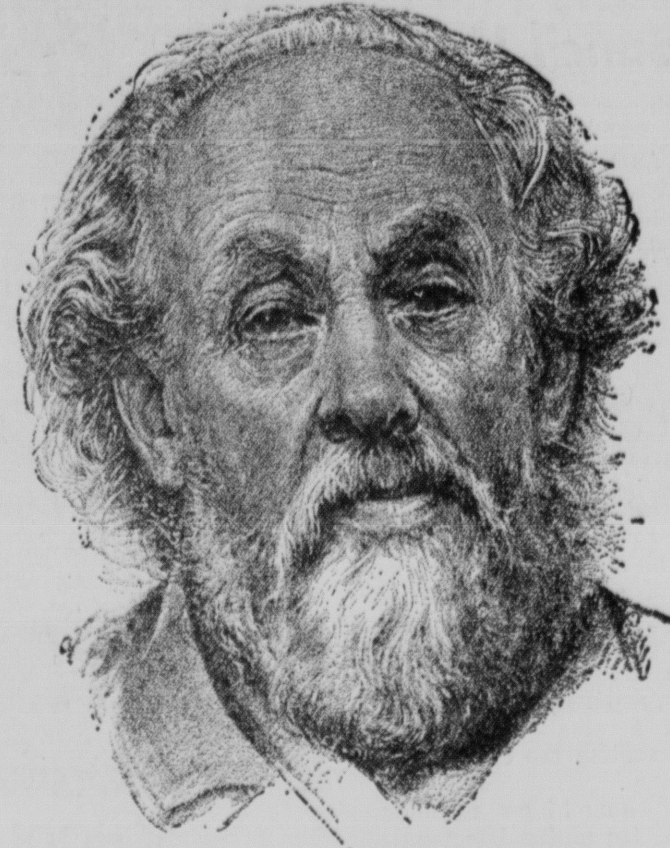

When he was only 14 he tried to inflate a bag made of tissue paper, using hydrogen, and got the nickname "Bird" from his family. The prophetic name stuck.

At about this time his father decided that something must be done to feed the child's insatiable appetite for scientific learning. Somehow the arrangements were made and Tsiolkovsky went to Moscow to study, but he spent what little money he had on experiments with balloons and dirigibles (although that name had not been coined then) and got so thin from lack of food that his father took him home again.

He continued to study astronomy, geology, chemistry and aerodynamics. "I am entirely self-taught," he said later in life.

His home in the provinces became the center of scientific interest. He did experiments and wrote them up, and some of his papers finally came to the attention of Russian scientists about 1880. He described the use of engines for flying machines, devoting himself entirely to aviation after 1885, two years after he first suggested the application of jet propulsion to aircraft.

He first mentioned the term "space flight" in a paper published in 1895, and in a paper printed in 1903 he talked of the exploration of outer space with rocket ships or devices.

Tsiolkovsky said only a reaction type of engine, the rocket, could operate in distant space and that it would have to have a greater velocity of exhaust than any fuel then could produce if it was to reach a speed that would allow it to escape the pull of the earth. This Tsiolkovsky first discussed publicly in 1898.

In later work he suggested stabilizing the rocket with fins while it was in the earth's atmosphere, but said that vanes in the exhaust stream would have to be used in space. He also foresaw the problems of re-entry, including that of the tremendous heat, and suggested the special glide paths to reduce the speed as slowly as possible. Sixty years later it is all being done.

Voice Heard

Lincoln, Neb.

Many of the residents in the vicinity of 84th and A joined together to voice our opposition to a request for commercial zoning at this site. Since our opposition had considerable money behind them, many of our friends and some of our neighbors told us that we didn't have a chance — that "money talks."

However, we believed that our City Council and mayor would give us a fair hearing and we worked very hard to inform the people of the area of the issue.

Our faith in the City Council as the representatives of the people has been justifified and we would like to point out to the people of Lincoln that we have a truly representative council of which we can well be proud. Our council WILL listen to the voice of the people and vote accordingly.

We hope this example will give others incentives to take a more active voice in government.

Housing Ordinance

Lincoln, Neb.

You are wrong to flail the people of Lincoln for their rejection of the minimum housing standards ordinance. The people seem to have shown in their vote that they have a much better understanding of this bad law than you have.

The minimum standards approach to the problem of America's decaying cities is another example of the establishment's penchant for treating symptoms instead of causes. The reason for the existence of slums is quite simply that those who live in them do not have enough income to live elsewhere. If we Americans seriously wanted to get rid of slums, the right way would be to channel more of the resources of society into the pockets of the slum-dwellers.

This can be done only by raising wages and pensions to realistic levels. Unfortunately, this approach would involve some redistribution and is anathema to the fat cats who run this country; therefore, we can be sure that there are going to be slums for a long time to come — or at least until we alter our power elite and our chaotic economic system.

Minimum standards is one of those wonderfully cynical anti-poor (not anti-poverty) laws whose solution to the problems of the poor is to get rid of them. The net result in Lincoln would have been the exile of those individuals, who embarrass our local power structure by their presence, to the Air Base ghetto. It was an attempt to make Lincoln safe for mediocrity — a city of taxpayers and consumers building the tax base and servicing business. It was an attempt by our establishment to remake the city in its own image: homogeneous, commercial, conservative and white.

Mr. Denney

Lincoln, Neb.

In answer to Thomas Richard Dean's letter in the Star of November 8, it is obvious to all who make any attempt to keep informed that Robert Denney is an excellent and hard-working congressman. One of the greatest testimonies to this is that his critics have to resort to personal insult and innuendos in order to get attention. Mature and informed voters will be voting in the November, 1968, election and I think they will re-elect Bob Denney.

Physicians Committee On Longevity Apparently Successful

By ROBERT PETERSON
We are often called a nation of joiners. Most Americans belong to a number of special groups, and it's a tiny community indeed which doesn't have clubs for those interested in bridge, bowling, boating, bicycling, Bible reading, sewing, or gardening.

It might not be a bad idea if we encouraged people to form clubs for the purpose of extending longevity. The only such group I ever heard of is one created by Dr. Charles E. North of Montclair, N.J. He and some fellow physicians, who had graduated from Columbia Medical School at the turn of the century, formed a Committee on Longevity. Their objective was to meet as a club twice a year and check one another carefully to make sure each member was aware of his physical condition, was treating his ailments properly, and was practicing all known rules for health and longevity.

The group efforts paid off handsomely for, as Dr. North was proud to tell the press annually until his death at 92, all members of the club lived well beyond the average.

"We have discovered that the worst of all diseases in old age is neglect," exclaimed Dr. North in a talk which I once heard him give. "We call it adiophoria, which corresponds to the Greek word for deadhead. Most people are deadheads they don't use such knowledge and common sense as they have in protecting their precious gift of life."

The doctor was right. Many of us are deadheads when it comes to protecting our health. We know that health is our most precious gift, yet we frequently violate the most elementary principles in guarding this great gift.

Perhaps one of our greatest abuses is overeating. There is a wealth of scientific evidence showing that three out of five people are heavier than they should be, and that their excess weight places a serious burden on vital organs.

Another popular abuse is inadequate exercise. In this era of labor-saving devices, muscles simply aren't used as much as they should be and as a consequence, circulation slackens, muscles sag, and wastes accumulate.

Other abuses which must be controlled if we truly wish to guard our health are excessive use of alcohol and tobacco and inadequate rest and relaxation for the body.

Board Grants Full Pardon To Man From Winnebago

By Associated Press
A 53-year-old Winnebago man sentenced 35 years ago to serve three years for manslaughter in Thurston County has received a full pardon.

The State Board of Pardons and Paroles reported Friday the full pardon, which erases the conviction from the record, was accorded Gordon Beaver of Winnebago.

attempted burglary and violation of bench parole; Hall County; 1966. Thomas J. Meachley, 39, Elgin; burglary; Pierce County; 1967. Charles Legates, 37, transient; insufficient fund check; Scotts Bluff County; 1966.

The 1-3 year forgery sentence in Douglas County of Norman L. Jeffcoat, 22, of California, was commuted to time served and he was discharged.

Traffic Court Conference Is Scheduled

Increased effectiveness of traffic court administration and procedures is the goal of the 1967 Nebraska Traffic Court Conference scheduled for Tuesday and Wednesday at the University of Nebraska Center.

Attending the conference will be judges who seek increased effectiveness in the administration of justice and in the leadership in traffic safety activities in their communities, and prosecutors who wish to review new legal technical and scientific resources available in the prosecution of traffic cases. A review of requirements set forth by the Federal Highway Safety Agency has also been planned.

The conference is sponsored by the University of Nebraska College of Law, in cooperation with the Nebraska State Bar Association, the American Bar Association Traffic Court Program, the Northwestern University Traffic Institute and held in conjunction with the 1967 Nebraska Accident Prevention Institute.

Speakers will include Robert H. Reeder, assistant counsel, Northwestern University Traffic Institute; Richard L. Samuels, assistant director, Traffic Court Program American Bar Association, and Donald E. Trull, safety program liaison officer, National Highway Safety Bureau.

Meet Star Carrier Gerald Beach

When the phone rings at the Beach's residence at Syracuse, it may mean that another grateful customer wants to tell Gerald's parents what a fine job their son is doing on his paper route.

Gerald has been managing the route for The Lincoln Star in his hometown for a year now and he says the profits and his nice customers are making his job both easy and fun.

A student at Syracuse Junior High, Gerald carries a B grade average and is a past president of his sixth grade class.

His main outside interest is anything pertaining to naval operations—both past and present. And his ultimate goal is to attend the Naval Academy and become an officer in the U.S. Navy.

Other interests include such diverse subjects as mythology, drafting, archery, camping and such sports as football, basketball and swimming.

His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Beach, say the paper route has helped their son in so many ways they are "too numerous to mention" and highly recommend this type of job for all boys.

Young men interested in becoming carrier salesmen for The Lincoln Star should contact the State Carrier Dept., The Lincoln Star, Lincoln, Neb. 68501.

There may be a general exodus to Columbia, Mo., this weekend, but the tables will be turned on Thursday of next week—All roads will lead to Lincoln.

We won't go so far as to say that the game is the all-important reason for the influx of guests next week. We don't believe, for instance, that Mr. and Mrs. Thomas C. Woods, III, and Miss Avery Woods are coming from Colorado State College at Ft. Collins, Colo., just for the game. The game they will attend, but they are coming to spend the Thanksgiving holiday weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Woods, Jr., who will be a Thanksgiving dinner host and hostess at their home.

In addition to their son and daughter-in-law, and their daughter Mr. and Mrs. Woods will have Mrs. Woods' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Jones of Sioux City, Iowa, as their Thanksgiving guests—and Mr. Woods' mother, Mrs. Thomas C. Woods.

From New York City on Wednesday will come Richard deBrown who will spend the Thanksgiving weekend with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank H. deBrown.

We hear that Mr. and Mrs. Harold Booth are to entertain game and Thanksgiving guests on Thursday.

Included in the group will be Mrs. Booth's parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Spelts, her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Spelts and their family, all of Grand Island; Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Tipton of Omaha, and Mr. and Mrs. James Russell.

This may well be the last Thanksgiving Mr. and Mrs. Booth will spend in Lincoln. We dislike passing on the bad news but Mr. and Mrs. Booth and their four children, Becky, Billy, Eva and Herb, will be calling Bloomington, Ill., 'home' after Dec. 1.

You may already know that Mrs. Booth is a member of the Lincoln Junior League, and that although she is a graduate of Cornell University she spent her freshman college year at Nebraska where she is a member of Alpha Phi.

Party Was Prenuptial Courtesy

A hostess at her home on Thursday evening was Mrs. Clarence Willis who entertained at a prenuptial courtesy for Miss Joyce Morten-sen, a bride-to-be of mid-January.

The guests, who included office associates and former school classmates of the honoree, presented a bridal shower to Miss Mortensen, whose marriage to Gary Lee Weber will be solemnized Jan. 20. Co-hostesses with Mrs. Willis were Mrs. Ronald Richards and Miss Linda Johnson.

er, Mrs. Henry C. Weber; the guest of honor and her mother, Mrs. Carl O. Mortensen; Mrs. Richards; Mrs. Gilbert Gunn and Miss Jeri Coates.

Mr. Weber currently is serving with the Navy and is stationed on the USS Saratoga.

Courtesies

To be honored Saturday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Boosalis will be Miss Kris Bitner of Sidney, Kappa Alpha Theta at the University of Nebraska, and her fiancé, Ronald Pfeifer, son of Mrs. L. F. Pfeifer and the late Dr. Pfeifer, whose marriage will be an event of Saturday, Nov. 25.

Members of the family and family friends have been invited to the Boosalis home and will present a grocery shower to the honored couple.

Miss Bitner, who is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Chris Bitner of Sidney, and her fiancé will share honors next Friday evening at a prenuptial dinner to be given by Mrs. Pfeifer, who will entertain family members and the bridal party at the Ft. Sidney Hotel.

Mr. Pfeifer was presented a gadget shower last Tuesday evening, Nov. 14, when Dr. and Mrs. Paul Peterson were dinner host and hostess at their home in courtesy to Mr. Pfeifer and his fiancée.

The couple also were honored with a shower on Wednesday evening, Nov. 8, when Dr. and Mrs. Donald Purvis and Dr. and Mrs. Robert Hillyer entertained at dinner at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Hillyer. The shower gifts were Christmas decorations.

Mention already has been made of the dinner at East Hills Club given by members of Mr. Pfeifer's family, and of the Sunday brunch honoring Miss Bitner and Mr. Pfeifer for which Dr. and Mrs. Frederick S. Webster, Dr. and Mrs. Lee Stover and Mr. and Mrs. James MacLean were hosts and hostesses at the Stover home.

Coffee

Lincoln Symphony Guild members will hold their annual white elephant sale Monday morning at a 9:15 o'clock coffee, to be held in the ballroom of the Hotel Cornhusker.

A short talk will be given by Leo Kopp, conductor of the Lincoln Symphony Orchestra.

Fun News In Suburbia

Just about the time Lincoln residents become adjusted to the fact that winter is setting in,—do a quick change to winter coats from fall jackets, and begin dreading the thought of getting out in the cold and wind to rake leaves—BAM, Indian summer hits again. Lighter apparel is put back into service and, somehow, getting out to work in the yard on such a lovely weekend is not such a bad idea.

Such is the weather which suburban residents have been enjoying recently—and we wouldn't be surprised if the parks will be crowded today and tomorrow with people out for "one last picnic"...

Mr. and Mrs. Keith Steele may be out for one last picnic today, but next week they won't have the chance, since their Thanksgiving plans call for a trip to Minneapolis, Minn.

Mr. and Mrs. Steele, with daughter Susan, a student at the University of Nebraska, will be the guests of their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Pawlcy.

The Thanksgiving guest list at the Pawlcy home will be completed by Mr. and Mrs. Steele's son and family, Mr. and Mrs. Michael Steele of St. Cloud, Minn., and their nephew and his family, Mr. and Mrs. Lance Hightower.

Thanksgiving will be a family affair for Mr. and Mrs. Milton L. Ward.

Their guests for the holiday period will be Mrs. Ward's sister and niece, Mrs. Jean Whitson and Nancy, of Dubuque, Iowa, and Mrs. Whitson's son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Thill, also of Dubuque.

While staying in Lincoln, by the way, Mr. and Mrs. Thill will be exhibiting West-highland White terriers at the Lincoln Kennel Club show the Saturday following Thanksgiving. From Lincoln they will go to Omaha to show the Westies at the Omaha dog show the following day.

On Thanksgiving, Mr. and Mrs. Ward, Mrs. Whitson and Nancy, and Mr. and Mrs. Thill will be the guests of Mrs. Ward's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Goeschel. Also present at the family dinner will be Mrs. Ward's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Emmanuel Miller, and her sister, Mrs. Earl Flynn.

The traditional Thanksgiving song is, of course, the "Over the river and through the woods" refrain. Kurt, Ted, and Julie Sonderegger will be going to "Grandma's house" for Thanksgiving, but in a "horseless carriage," not a "one-horse open sleigh."

With their parents Mr. and Mrs. William Sonderegger, the youngsters will be the Thanksgiving guests of Mrs. Sonderegger's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Nispel of Beatrice.

Marriage

In the presence of members of the family and a small group of friends, the marriage of Miss Alexa Jayne Wylie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bruce Wylie, to Timothy Wayne Mowrey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis M. Mowrey, was solemnized Saturday afternoon, Nov. 11, at the Church of the Holy Trinity, Episcopal. The lines of the service were read at 3 o'clock, by the Rev. William Cross.

Attending the bride as matron of honor was Mrs. Vyrle Strayer, and Gary Tankersley served Mr. Mowrey as best man. Seating the guests were Dennis Mowrey and Gary Mowrey, brothers of the bridegroom.

Included among family members attending the wedding were Mrs. Frank Milton Wylie of Columbus, Ohio, and Mrs. David Evans, Youngstown, Ohio, grandmothers of the bride.

Mrs. Mowrey is a former student at Kearney State College.

The bidding:
South West North East
2♠ Pass 2NT Pass
3♠ Pass 4♠

The bidding:
Opening lead — king of hearts.

This hand was played in a four-table team match. At each table the final contract was four spades and West cashed the A-K of hearts and continued with the jack.

At the first table, declarer ruffed the heart and played

K of spades. When East showed out, South could not afford to continue with a spade because West would win with the queen and lead another heart to establish his last trump as the setting trick.

So South abandoned further trump leads and played the A-K-J of diamonds, planning to overtake the jack in dummy and discard a club on the fourth diamond. But West ruffed the jack and South went down one.

At table two, after ruffing the jack of hearts, declarer cashed the ace of spades, and, attempting to guard against a 4-1 trump break, led the jack of spades. West took his queen and, since a heart continuation could be ruffed in dummy, shifted to the jack of clubs. South won, drew trumps, and took the rest of the tricks to make his contract.

At table three, South also ruffed the heart and played the A-J of spades. But West countered by refusing to win the trick. Declarer could do nothing to overcome this fine play. He led the A-K-J of diamonds, but West ruffed the jack and the defense later took a club trick for a one-trick set.

At the last table, South also ruffed the jack of hearts, but he came up with the only sure way to guard against a 4-1 trump division. He led the jack of spades without bothering to cash a high trump first.

West ducked — it wouldn't have helped him to take the jack — and South, still intent upon protecting against a bad trump break, continued with the ten. West had to take the queen — otherwise his side would have won no more tricks — but there was now no card he could play to defeat the contract. So South made four spades thanks to his super-duper safety play.

Betrothal Announced

The engagement of Miss Lillian Delameter of Lincoln, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Delameter of Princeton, Mo., to Ewalt Hageman, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Ewald Hageman of Ithaca, is announced this morning by the bride-elect's parents.

The wedding is planned for February.

Miss Delameter attended Platt College of Commerce in St. Joseph, Mo., and is careering in Lincoln.

Mr. Hageman attended Luther College and is engaged in farming at Ithaca.

Alumnae

The annual Founders Day observance of collegiate and alumnae members of Delta Delta Delta will be held at 7:45 o'clock, Monday evening, at the chapter house on the University of Nebraska campus.

Mrs. W. Evan Benjamin is chairman of the hostess committee, and a short program, "Ideas for Holiday Entertainment," will be given by Mrs. Esther Hagan.

Abby: your parents are right

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Don't you think a girl's steady boy friend (almost her fiance) should be allowed to come to dinner at her house as often as he wants to? Mother has set a limit of three times a week.

I say Leo should be welcome here every night as we plan to marry as soon as one of us gets out of school and gets a job.

Daddy has gotten very hateful about it and calls Leo a freeloader behind his back. He says any boy who will accept a dinner invitation more than once a week without inviting the girl out, even for a hotdog, is a bum.

Leo isn't a bum. He just doesn't have the money to take me out so the only time I get to see him is when I invite him here for dinner.

He used to drop by to study every evening and he'd stay on for dinner.

But never more than five nights a week.

How can I get my parents to make Leo welcome any time?

LEO'S STEADY

DEAR STEADY: Leo may be your "steady" . . . but he hardly qualifies as a "fiance." I think three times a week is plenty. And if you see Leo only when he's feeding his face at your table, maybe three times a week is too much.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "SECRET PEN PAL": With the holidays approaching soon, if you anticipate being hostess to another gang of rude relatives, either do it gracefully and silently, or see your travel agent now.

Troubled? Write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. For a personal reply, inclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Questions And Answers

Josephine Lowman

Q. I have very fine hair. Should I use brush rollers or plain rollers?

A. By all means use plain rollers.

Q. Your exercises I have tried for hips and legs are wonderful. Now will you please give me a good one for the midriff? I need slimming there, too.

A. Do this one. Stand erect with your feet separated. Keep the knees stiff throughout the exercise. Bend over and touch your fingertips to your knees. Now raise your trunk, bend your elbows and pull back with your trunk and your elbows, head back. Feel the pull over the diaphragm? Continue slowly, giving plenty of time for the pull-back.

Q. Please write about the treatment of whiteheads which I have for the first time. It is not from lack of cleanliness.

A. Stimulation of circulation will be helpful. You can use a little brush and soap and water to advantage. You might also try some beauty grains when cleansing the face.

Q. What can be done when a husband snores so loudly that his wife gets no sleep? I have this problem and it is ruining my health from lack of sleep.

A. You can buy a small ball to attach to the pajama top. The idea is that the snorer will become uncomfortable when lying on his back and turn onto his side. As you probably know, people snore more and louder when lying on their back. The following letter has just come to me.

"A soft word turns away snorers. I feel so sorry every time I read about those who have a snoring partner that I feel I must write and tell you my never-fail solution to this problem.

"I simply lean over and whisper gently right in my husband's ear, 'Darling, please turn over.' He responds beautifully and ceases snoring, though he doesn't remember a thing about it in the morning.

"When we first married 25 years ago, his snoring annoyed me intensely. I pushed my husband on his side, shouted at him, held his mouth closed, and used all sorts of human means in my irritation. They all failed. But for many a long year now I have used the gentle method and it always works!"

Happily Married
Well, I must say that is a delightful way to solve the problem!

Q. What is a guiche?
A. A guiche is a side curl. These are helpful to the woman who has a high forehead and is flattering to those who have a triangular face.

Huskers Face Mizzou In Big 8 Elimination Game

By HAL BROWN
Star Sports Editor

Columbia, Mo. — Nebraska, successful for the past two weeks in fending off the knockout punch that would take its chances of a fifth straight Big Eight football championship, faces Missouri here at 1:30 this afternoon in a bout that has to end in one of the combatants being kayoed.

The Huskers were sent reeling to the ropes in the conference championship fight with two straight losses to Kansas and Colorado, but it was at that point that they reacted like a good fighter in trouble—calling on defense to ward off the finishing blow.

Since those two setbacks, Nebraska has blanked three straight foes — Texas Christian 29-0, Iowa State 12-0 and Oklahoma State 9-0.

This defensive effort vaulted the NU Black Shirts into first place in the nation on total defense, ranking third in rushing defense and fourth in pass defense.

The contest shapes up as a struggle between two defensive giants with Missouri ranking third nationally in total defense, seventh in rushing defense and sixth in pass defense.

The two teams are tied for second in defense against scoring, eaching allowing 52 points in rolling to identical 6-2 records, 3-2 in the Big Eight.

The Husker defenders, led by all-American Wayne Meylan at middle guard, have scored four shutouts and have allowed more than one touchdown only to Colorado and Kansas State.

Missouri's defense, meanwhile, owns two shutouts and has given up more than one touchdown only to the Buffs.

While Missouri coach Dan Devine calls the Husker backfield of Ben Gregory, Dick Davis and Joe Orduna, "as good as any in the league," and while the Huskers generally are regarded as having more offensive punch than the Tigers, Missouri has scored more than NU.

Missouri has scored 118 points while the Huskers have put only 106 on the scoreboard. The Tigers scored 28 against Kansas State, a team that held Nebraska to 16, and Missouri racked up 23 against Iowa State while the Huskers could get only 12.

But the NU offense has been hurt by mistakes, something Missouri holds to a minimum. And in the past couple of weeks, Nebraska has been less than sensational in the passing game, something teams must be able to do to cope with a tough Tiger ground defense.

Further woes hit the NU passing hopes this week when split end and flanker Tom Penney suffered a broken finger and missed practice Tuesday and Wednesday along with tight end Dennis Morrison, who suffered a muscle spasm.

Penney and Morrison, both of whom will play, are two of the top pass catchers, Penney catching 14 for 179 yards and Morrison 13 for 183 yards.

Missouri, which looks upon the pass as something to be shunned, prefers to stick to the ground using ball control and letting the other team beat itself.

Helping the Tigers to accomplish this is one of the league's top defensive linebackers — Roger Wehrli — a dangerous threat on pass interceptions and punt returns.

The winner of today's game will retain hopes of sharing the league title, the loser will be out of the race, and a tie would knock both out of it.

OU Victory Likely For Orange Bid

By Associated Press

A likely Orange Bowl bid awaits Oklahoma's Big Eight football leaders if they turn back Kansas Saturday at Norman, Okla., to sew up at least a tie for the championship. It appears Oklahoma has too much quickness, versatility and balance for the surprising Jayhawks.

Colorado, Nebraska and Missouri, all 6-2 and shooting for an 8-2 season, are still in the crowded bowl picture. One may drop out at Columbia, Mo., where Missouri collides with Nebraska.

But Colorado is expected to beat last-place Kansas State at Manhattan and keep alive its chances for a Cotton or Bluebonnet berth. Nebraska has a shot at the same two bowls and Liberty Bowl officials are said to be thinking of a Mizzou-Louisiana State match.

The Oklahoma State-Iowa State game at Ames marks the close of Clay Stapleton's 10-year coaching career at Iowa State. He will continue as athletic director next year.

It's also a milestone day at K-State, the final game in 46-year-old, 20,000-seat Memorial Stadium. Next fall the Wildcats will be in a new 35,000-seat stadium.

Kansas coach Pepper Rodgers, is making his first visit to wind-swept Owen Field, a place that gave visiting coaches nightmares when Bud Wilkinson's great teams were whipping all comers in the '50s.

This first Chuck Fairbanks team is being compared with Wilkinson's best. It has smothered Colorado 23-0, K-State 46-7 and Iowa State 52-14 in league play, and got past tough Missouri 7-0.

Rodgers agrees the OU defense is outstanding with men like middle guard Granville Liggins, but insists the team's best strength is its offense. The key man in an outstanding offensive line is Bob Kalsu, 221-pound tackle. It fires out so fast, the Sooners are able to control the ball alternating tailbacks Ron Shotts and Steve Owens.

This opens the way for Bob Warrack to raid the flanks with weapons like Eddie Hinton, fleet wingback. Warrack has directed 22 touchdowns drives this fall, 15 of 60 yards or more. Kansas is a threat with passing bombs, with big Bob Douglass the triggerman.

Nebraska is the nation's No. 1 team in total defense and Missouri is No. 3, but both have plenty of offensive weapons. Nebraska has been stopped mainly by its own mistakes and Missouri by injuries in its two losses.

Tiger TKO's Rouse In 12th

Las Vegas (AP) — Dick Tiger retained his world light heavyweight championship Friday night, winning on a technical knockout in the 12th round over challenger Roger Rouse of Montana.

Tiger caught Rouse with a solid right hand to the chin 12 seconds into the round as the 32-year-old challenger was moving toward him.

It was the third knockdown by the 38-year old champion and referee Jimmy Olivas stopped the fight.

Rouse's face was bloody from a bad cut over the right side of his mouth, the result of a punishing left hook that dropped him for the first time in the ninth round of a scheduled 15-rounder.

Tiger, making the second successful defense of the championship he won from Jose Torres in December, 1966, had a slight cut over his left eye and another minor slit on the bridge of his nose.

Through eight rounds the fight was fairly even between the champion from the new republic of Biafra, who weighed 168½ and the veteran Rouse, 174½ from Anaconda, Mont.

But Tiger turned tiger in the ninth, followed with a second knockdown in the tenth with a terrific overhand right to the jaw. On both knockdowns Rouse managed to get to his feet before the mandatory count of eight was reached. But there was no mandatory count for Rouse's final trip to the canvas. Tiger's short right caught Rouse coming in and dumped him like a sack of potatoes.

The referee did not bother to count.

Rouse, 32, was the No. 1 contender for the 175-lb. division title and had been seeking a shot at the title for at least two years.

Tiger's first defense of his title was against former champion Torres in New York last May. He won both the title and the rematch by decisions in 15 rounds.

a spokesman for him said Friday.

Wolman, who bought the stadium for $750,000 several years ago, has valued it at $1.2 million.

Wolman, at a news conference this week, admitted he was in a financial bind. Although he said his assets exceeded his liabilities $92,182,946 to $85,321,444, he said he is strapped for ready cash, caused by a tight money market.

Wolman proposed a system to pay off his creditors giving them 20 per cent of the money he owes them immediately and 10 per cent a year for the next eight years. The spokesman said Friday many of the creditors had accepted.

The spokesman did not disclose the possible buyer of Connie Mack Stadium, but it is not expected to be the Philadelphia Phillies baseball team. The Phillies rent the stadium for $125,000 a year. Possibly a developer who wants to turn the site into low income housing or a shopping center will buy it.

In another development, Harold Manley, business financial vice president of the University of Pennsylvania, said the school is discussing possible purchase of Chestnut Hall Apartments in Philadelphia from Wolman. Wolman is a part owner of the structure, which is being converted from a hotel to an apartment building. It is near the campus.

Wolman and an associate paid an estimated $1.8 million for it, 14 months ago.

Trojans Favored Over UCLA

By The Associated Press

UCLA, the nation's top-ranked team, and cross-town rival Southern California shoot the works Saturday in a true-to-life Hollywood showdown with the national title, the Rose Bowl, the Pacific Eight championship and probably the Heisman Player of the Year award at stake.

A capacity crowd of 94,000 at the Memorial Coliseum in Los Angeles and millions of television viewers will watch college football's game of the year and two of the glamor backs of the season in UCLA quarterback Gary Beban and mercury-footed O. J. Simpson of Southern California.

Starting time is 3:30 p.m., CST, with the national television, ABC, show opening at 3 p.m.

This is the season's wind-up for fourth-ranked Southern California, 8-1. The Trojans were knocked off the top perch this week following their 3-0 loss last Saturday to Oregon State's Giant-killers. UCLA, 7-0-1, had been tied earlier in the season, 16-16, by Oregon State.

Despite UCLA's unbeaten record, the once-beaten Trojans were rated a field goal edge over the Bruins. The Bruins have a potent field goal threat in Zenon Andrusyshyn.

The Bruins still have a Nov. 25 date in Los Angeles with Syracuse, 6-2. The Orange, with a top All-America candidate in bulldozing fullback Larry Csonka, still have high hopes of a bowl berth. They play Saturday at Boston College, 2-5.

Other bowl berths, conference championships, and Top Ten rankings will be affected by numerous other key contests on the national program.

The other Rose Bowl spot could be settled at Minneapolis where surprising Indiana, 8-0, one of the two unbeaten-untied major college teams and ranked fifth, takes on Minnesota, 6-2, in a game rated a toss-up.

Even if third-ranked Purdue, 7-1 beats deflated Michigan State, 2-6, at Lafayette, Ind., and Indiana the following Saturday for the Big Ten title, the Boilermakers won't go a bowling. They are ineligible under the Conference's rules because they played in the last Rose Bowl classic.

Tennessee, 6-1, second ranked and beaten only by UCLA, 20-16 will be out to protect its Southeastern Conference lead and bowl chances against Mississippi, 4-2-1, at Memphis.

Sixth-ranked Wyoming, 9-0, the other all-winning team and a solid bowl candidate, winds up its season at Texas of El Paso, 5-1-1, which has an outstanding passer in Billy Stevens. He needs just two touchdowns to break the NCAA career record of 50 held jointly by Babe Parilli of Kentucky and Virgil Carter of Brigham Young.

Oklahoma, 6-1 seventh ranked and another bowl possibility, takes on Kansas, 4-4, but 4-1 in the Big Eight, at Norman, Okla. The Sooners are 4-0 in the league.

Tenth-ranked North Carolina State, 8-1 which lost to Penn State 13-8 last Saturday for lack of a yard, finishes at Clemson, 4-4. The Wolfpack is another prime bowl possibility. N.C. State is 5-0 and Clemson 4-0 in the South-

MIZZOU QB . . . Gary Kombrink.

Fifth Down Recalled

New York (AP) — Bill Murphy Jr. won't be trying to relive any memories when he races into the end zone Saturday, hoping to catch a touchdown pass. He doesn't want any part of any fifth-down touchdowns.

"The odds probably are more than a billion to one," said the Cornell flanker by telephone on the eve of the Dartmouth football game at Hanover, N.H. "But if it happens this time, I hope we don't give back the touchdown."

Murphy, of course, was talking about the famous play 27 years ago when his father, also Bill Murphy, caught a scoring pass for Cornell during a blizzard on the last play of a 7-3 victory over Dartmouth. However, films of the game showed the catch came on an illegal fifth down and Cornell later forfeited the victory.

"Ever since I was a kid, I've been seeing movies of the play," young Murphy said. "I've seen it at Cornell and on television. It feels kind of weird, 25 years later, watching my father play football."

"I saw it once with my father when I was 9 or 10. He still gets excited. He beams all over and you can tell."

"I knew if I ever played for Cornell, it would bring back memories. I played in the Dartmouth game in Hanover two years ago at the 25th anniversary of the 1940 game, but I was a defensive back then and didn't catch any passes.

"It's snowing up there now, and a lot of the guys joke about the play, saying 'wouldn't it be funny if the same thing happened to Dartmouth and they wouldn't give back the TD?'"

"My dad will be here for the game and he'll enjoy every minute. All he is concerned about is beating Dartmouth, and so am I. I'd on first, second, third or like to catch any kind of touchdown pass."

The odds are much better for that to happen. Although Dartmouth still is hot after the Ivy League title and favorable over the Big Red, Murphy is one of the league's top receivers with high-scoring Cornell.

The 21-year-old senior only wishes he had played the previous two years at flanker, instead of defensive back.

"I feel I'm best at flanker," he said with an interest in professional football and knowing that the pros might be interested in a 6-foot-1, 185-pound receiver with good hands and speed.

Those extra two years also would have given two more chances to catch a touchdown pass against Dartmouth, even it was only on first, second, third or fourth down.

Non-Thinker Plays Better

San Diego, Calif. (AP) — Nick Jones has worked hard to stop thinking. That's why he's playing for the San Diego Rockets of the National Basketball Association.

"Nick was on the verge of being cut several times," says coach Jack McMahon, "but we thought he had too much talent to let him go."

Jones, who played college basketball at University of Oregon, explains his pre-season difficulty:

"I was thinking about mistakes — and making them. I've learned to stop trying to think about mistakes and just play ball. 'Don't think,' I tell myself."

The 6-foot-2, 191-pound guard was the playmaker in Oregon's ball-control offense, averaging 19.5 points a game as a senior. He was drafted in the third round by the fledgling Rockets.

But Nick has had to change his style and become McMahon's "scattergun." He hasn't been a starter but he's come off the bench several times to spark the Rockets.

His nine points in the fourth quarter Wednesday night helped produce San Diego's first victory over an established NBA team, New York.

"Nick scatters the defense," says McMahon. "In a scatter-type game, when we aren't using a set offense, Nick can bring the ball up quickly. He's done the job."

—AFTER FAST START— Denver, Miami To Lose Again

New York (AP)—The nicest thing about a losing streak, says the intrepid pro football picker, is that some day it ends.

Admittedly, his experience is somewhat limited in the area of losing, but Old Reliable has been beaten often enough to know what Denver and Miami are going through right now.

The Broncos and Dolphins won their American Football League season openers and neither has won anything since. Denver has dropped nine straight, Miami seven in a row.

The pattern won't change this week. The pro picker doesn't believe the Broncos can knock off Buffalo and he knows the Dolphins won't stop Oakland.

Last week's 7-3-2 record brought the season's log to 64-34, a .653 percentage. This week's picks, with all games.

AFL
New York 34, Boston 17 — Patriots plan to start Don Trull at quarterback and the Tough Jet defense should eat him up. New York's offense due for a big day.

Kansas City 27, San Diego 20—The Chiefs can't afford to lose if they want to stay in the Western race. They've outscored opposition 127-37 in sweeping last three. Chargers' John Hadl has passed for better than 200 yards in each of San Diego's eight games.

Buffalo 21, Denver 17—The loss-schackled Broncos get closer and closer to a victory but the Bills have beaten Denver nine straight times dating back to 1962 and both streaks will remain intact.

Oakland 30, Miami 10—The Raiders must win to protect their Western lead. They will. The Dolphins have settled on Bob Griese at quarterback but he's no match for Daryle Lamonica and the AFL's top defense.

NFL
Baltimore 31, Detroit 17 — Colts are gunning for the first NFL undefeated season in 25 years and don't bet they won't get it. Johnny Unitas is running the league's top offense. Detroit's rookie flash, Mel Farr, is just running. He gained 197 yards against Minnesota last week.

Los Angeles 24, Atlanta 14 — Rams still hope to catch Baltimore and must win to stay close. Their defensive line will help Roman Gabriel see that they do.

Cleveland 27, Minnesota 17 — Browns bounce back from last week's nightmare against Green Bay. Vikings have lost only once in last five weeks but look for NFL's leading rusher, Leroy Kelly, to end their prosperity.

Philadelphia 21, New Orleans 7—Saints' first NFL victory came against the Eagles two weeks ago but the home field edge should help Philadelphia reverse that one.

New York 28, Pittsburgh 14 — Frank Tarkenton drove the Steelers wild in their first meeting and his 19 TD passes lead the league. The Giants won't need the schoolyard triple reverse they used to beat Pittsburgh last time.

Chicago 23, St. Louis 17 — Bears might have solved their quarterback problem at last with Larry Rakestraw, who passed for three TDs and scored two others in romp against New York last week. Young Jim Hart will keep Cards close, but not close enough.

Green Bay 34, San Francisco 20 — The 49ers have dropped three straight and blew a 14-3 halftime edge against Washington last week. Packers looked super with fill-ins Donny Anderson and Ben Wilson running wild against Cleveland.

Dallas 20, Washington 17 — Always a cliffhanger. The last four games between these two have been decided by a total of 10 points. Give the edge to Don Meredith over Sonny Jurgensen, but not by much.

Volleyball League
Entries Due Nov. 2

Entries for the Lincoln Recreation Department Men's Volleyball League are due at the Recreation Office, 2740 A, by Nov. 27.

Practice games at Johnson Gym will start the week of Dec. 4.

Luis Aparicio May Become LA Shortstop

San Juan (AP)—Luis Aparicio could be wearing a new uniform next season if, and this if includes some big names, a deal could be swung between the Baltimore Orioles and the Los Angeles Dodgers.

The Dodgers are very much interested in Aparicio, scout Al Campanis said Friday, "but the Orioles want one of our prized youngsters for him."

Campanis said he and general manager Buzzy Bavasi have talked to several Baltimore officials, including general manager Harry Dalton, and that apparently they are ready to deal the veteran shortstop in exchange for pitcher Don Sutton, the 22-year-old who was the mainstay of the Dodgers pitching corps last season.

According to Campanis, the deal could go through if the Orioles include somebody else in the package.

"We want either Curt Blefary, who can play first base and the outfield, or big Boog Powell, the power hitting first baseman," he added.

According to Campanis, Aparicio still has a couple of good years left, "long enough for us to develop a prize rookie we have in the minors."

The veteran scout said the Dodgers have a wealth of talent in the minor leagues, and that some of them are ready.

He praised Puerto Rican Luis Alcaraz, whom he considers a good player, but added that he thinks, and so does Manager Walter Alston, that Alcaraz could play better at third than at second.

"There is the possibility that Alston might switch Jim Lefebvre back to second, where he played the last two years we won the pennant, and give Alcaraz a chance at third," Campanis said.

Hunting Report

SOUTHWEST
Success is improving steadily with many rinks being seen. Large parties, with dogs, driving stable fields have the best luck. The birds must be nearly surrounded to keep them from flushing out or running off the far end of the fields. Quail are readily available along the Frenchman, Republic and Pittere rivers and other suitable areas. Several thousand geese, along with many ducks, are situated at Lake McConaughy. Other reservoirs are also heavily booked. Waterfowl shooting is good in feeding areas neighboring the reservoirs. Anglers in the district are taking limits of walleye below the diversion dam at Lexington using jugs in the morning hours.

SOUTHEAST
Field conditions are similar to the southwest, and more birds are being seen. Quail are plentiful, but hunting pressure is light, as most shooters are apparently waiting for field conditions to improve. Dry weather is preventing close-range shooting on the alert rinks, but the birds are beginning to bunch up. There is good waterfowl shooting in some feeding areas near large lakes and reservoirs.

NORTHEAST
Success on pheasants and quail is up somewhat from earlier in the season. Hunters are averaging just over one bird per day throughout the district, with some pheasant and quail action, providing up to three birds daily. Some good shooting for ducks and geese is found in feeding areas near Missouri River as waterfowl from the DeSoto Bend Refuge move out between Decatur and Blair.

SAND HILLS
Ducks all moved out of the area following the freeze recently. There have been few new arrivals. Counties to the east and south in the area offer some pheasant and quail action and success has been fair. Hunter activity is light.

PANHANDLE
Dry conditions are placing pheasant numbers as the rinks flush out of use, but a good number of birds are seen. Tall stubble fields are most effective, with large hunting parties using dogs having best success. Duck hunting along the North Platte River is fair, and there is some shooting in fields near some pheasant and quail action, and success has been fair. Hunter activity is light.

Wake Forest Halts Maryland, 35-17

Winston — Salem, N.C. (AP) — Wake Forest gave Bill Tate a new football coaching contract and his Deacons gave him a vote of confidence by crushing Maryland 35-17 in an Atlantic Coast Conference football game Friday night.

The Deacons, who scored from the game's opening kickoff on a long drive, completely dazzled the winless Terps with a crushing land and air attack. It was Maryland's 12th straight loss over two seasons to set a new school record.

A crowd of 14,500 watching the season finale for Wake Forest saw the Deacons win their fourth straight game and finish the season with a 4-6 record. Maryland still has one game to play, Virginia next week.

It was the first time that Wake Forest has won four games in a row since 1950.

The Deacons, without the knowledge that Tate would be back at the helm next season until after the game, put on their finest offensive fireworks of the season, riddling Maryland for five touchdowns and gaining a total of 502 yards rushing and passing.

Halas Picks Concannon
Chicago (AP) — Despite Larry Rakestraw's big day against the New York Giants last weekend, Jack Concannon will be the Chicago Bears' starting quarterback against the St. Louis Cardinals in Wrigley Field Sunday.

Rakestraw replaced the injured Concannon in the second quarter and had a hand in all five touchdowns as the Bears rallied for a 34-7 National Football League victory over the Giants. Rakestraw threw three touchdown passes and scored twice on runs.

"Larry did a wonderful job against the Giants," Owner-coach George Halas said Friday. "We expect that of him. But Jack is the No. 1 quarterback and will play unless he happens to be far off the mark on a particular play."

Halas said he informed both quarterbacks Tuesday that Concannon, who directed the Bears to three previous victories, would start against the Cardinals.

"I may play guessing games with you writers," said Halas. "But I never play guessing games with my quarterbacks."

Although strapped with two more defeats, the Bears 4-5 are tabbed a three-point choice over the Cardinals 5-3-1.

Panama Releases Peddler

Panama City (UPI)—Panamanian authorities Friday released Francis Willard Keith, a self-identified itinerant peddler from Webb City, Mo., who was jailed here at the request of West Germany on suspicion of being Nazi Gestapo chief Heinrich Mueller. The action by Panama apparently was in defiance of a West German request that he be held in Panama City until a German investigating team could determine whether he was Keith or the war criminal credited with eliminating millions of Jews during World War II.

Ramon Fabrega, Keith's self-appointed lawyer, said he was "studying seriously" the possibility of "suing somebody." Keith was released on a writ of habeas corpus.

Keith, who traveled in and out of Panama to sell insecticides and wine, refused to talk with reporters as he left the city jail except that he had been treated "very well" by Panamanian police.

Fabrega said his family had known Keith since 1941.

The release was the latest in a series of maneuvers indicating a possible legal battle over Keith. Germany still claims he is Mueller.

Romney Set To Reveal Intentions

Lansing, Mich. (AP) — Michigan Gov. George Romney will end his "long, hard look" at the presidency Saturday and announce whether he will bid for the 1968 Republican presidential nomination.

The 60-year-old governor will make his presidential intentions known at a news conference following a brunch at Detroit's Veterans Memorial Building to which some 600 key state Republicans have been invited.

There are few doubts that the former auto executive's answer will be "yes."

The brunch is scheduled for 9 a.m., CST, the news conference an hour later.

Backing up speculation that Romney will announce his candidacy are reports that his supporters will kick off a campaign drive Monday in New Hampshire, site of the nation's first primary March 12.

Two Votes Fail To Pick OAS Head

Washington (UPI) — Ambassadors to the Organization of American States (OAS) voted twice Friday for a new secretary general, but failed to give any candidate the needed two-thirds majority for election.

Leader on both ballots was Eduardo Ritters Aislan, Panamanian ambassador to the OAS. He got eight votes on the first secret ballot and seven on the second, far short of the 15 votes needed.

Possible Property Tax Return Seen

The initiative petition to prohibit the state from levying sales and income taxes may also permit the state to return to the property tax field.

Deputy Secretary of State Allan Beermann said Friday this legal possibility exists in the petition form filed by affidavit Thursday by John M. Graff, a South Omaha tire dealer.

It was first believed the petition sought only to amend the state constitution to banish sales and income taxes.

But, Beerman said closer examination of the wording and section number of the proposed amendment indicates it would replace the anti-property tax section of the constitution (Article 8, Section 1A).

The Nebraska Farm Bureau Federation last year placed the anti-property tax section in the constitution through a successful initiative petition campaign.

Graff's petition could not automatically re-nact the property tax, but could open the door for the Legislature to return to this form of taxation.

Beerman, himself a lawyer, said it is his opinion that the proper legal interpretation of the petition form would mean repeal, in effect, of the property tax prohibition.

"Ultimately," he said, "the petition form probably will be tested in the courts."

Attorney General Clarence A. H. Meyer said he had not studied the petition form and declined any comment.

Until last year Nebraska had been authorized to levy a state property tax since becoming a state in 1867, but the Farm Bureau's initiative repeal of the state property tax carried 223,969 to 216,093.

Graff will need to collect 48,640 valid signatures before next July 5 for his proposition to go on the November, 1968, ballot.

The names must come from 38 counties and represent 5% of the electors within those counties.

Graff has announced plans to conduct his drive in all 93 counties. He said 38 persons have agreed to help so far.

State Bank To Raise Money 'Unworkable,' Tiemann Says

Grand Island (AP) — Gov. Norbert Tiemann dismissed Friday as "absolutely unworkable" a proposal by an Omaha tire dealer that the state abolish its sales and income taxes and go into the banking business to raise revenues.

"I have dismissed the whole idea completely," the governor told the Associated Press. "Other than this, I have no comment."

Tiemann's comments referred to a proposal by John

M. Graff that the state establish a "Nebraska Homestead Bank" which would lend money to Nebraskans for purchasing homes, farms and businesses. Graff announced his idea as part of a petition designed to abolish the state sales and income taxes.

The governor was here briefly with Sven Holm, deputy to the Swedish consul general, at the Stuh Museum, en route to the one box pheasant hunt at Broken Bow.

Recount In Cleveland Officializes Stokes Win

Cleveland (UPI) — A recount made it official and the Inaugural Ball of Mayor Carl B. Stokes went on as scheduled Friday night.

The recount of the Nov. 7 election gave Democrat Stokes 129,369 votes to 127,717 for his Republican opponent, Seth Taft.

Club-Swinging Police Break Up Crowd Of Pupils

Philadelphia (AP) — Hundreds of police, some swinging billy clubs, broke up an unruly crowd of about 3,500 Negro pupils picketing the Board of Education building Friday.

A total of 57 youths and adults including a minister identified as the Rev. D. Marshall Bevins of St. Mary of the Annunciation Episcopal Church here, were arrested. At least 18 persons were injured, some requiring hospitalization.

The pupils, swarming to the building, only eight blocks from City Hall, were protesting what they termed the public school system's white policy.

Chief Commands

Police Commissioner Frank Rizzo personally commanded his officers. He ordered 300, who sped to the scene, to break up the melee "when it got out of hand."

Charges of police brutality were hurled immediately by many demonstrators. School Board President Richardson Dilworth blamed the police for triggering the student disorders.

"Information we have from our people in the crowd," Dilworth said, "indicates it was a charge from the uniformed police that triggered the violence."

'Set Loose'

The former Philadelphia mayor said the police unit on hand was keeping the crowd under control "until Commissioner Rizzo, without our request, set loose a couple of hundred men swinging clubs and beating children."

Two Negro school board members also backed up the charge, one saying "they the police started beating the kids indiscriminately."

"I will accept no cries of police brutality," Rizzo said. "I am proud of my men. I think they did an outstanding job. These people (the pupils) have been milling around here for hours and no one did anything about it until the police moved in as they had to."

Moon Craft Hops To New Spot

Pasadena, Calif. (AP) — Surveyor 6, first spacecraft to hop across the surface of the moon, began taking stereoscopic lunar photos Friday.

Hours earlier Friday the three-legged craft moved to a new position about eight feet to the side of its original landing in a 6½-second flight that lifted it about 10 feet off the surface.

From its new location the picture-taking craft can now rephotograph its prior area from a new angle, providing views which will give scientists at Jet Propulsion Laboratory 10 times as much information concerning the lunar surface, a spokesman said.

Surveyor 6 made its first soft landing on the moon's Central Bay on Nov. 9. Then, in the early hours Friday, the hop maneuver was ordered.

The craft's three rocket stabilizing engines were fired for 2½ seconds at a thrust level of 150 pounds, at 4:32 a.m. CST. Surveyor 6 weighs more than 600 pounds on Earth but only little more than 100 pounds on the moon, scientists said.

The JPL spokesman said the shift will aid in determining more about the strength of the lunar surface, vital to planning for a manned landing.

FCC Approves Sale Of KMMJ

Washington (AP) — The Federal Communications Commission announced Friday its approval of the sale for $450,000 of a Grand Island, Neb., radio station. One commissioner objected to the new ownership's policy on advertising.

Approved, 4-2, was the sale of KMMJ by Town & Farm Inc., to United Communications Inc.

Commissioners Kenneth A. Cox and Nicholas Johnson dissented. Cox objected to United's proposed policy regarding commercial time.

Leo N. Bartunek Dies At Age 66; Frequent Candidate, Commenter

Leo N. Bartunek, candidate for many public offices and longtime frequent commenter at governmental meetings locally, died Friday at his home at the age of 66.

An attorney, Mr. Bartunek lived at 1039 S. 11th.

Mr. Bartunek was a prolific writer of letters to editors and often appeared before governing bodies at City Hall, County Courthouse and the Statehouse.

He had fought, among many other things, for the repeal of the wheel tax and in opposition to urban renewal.

Most recently he had opposed the minimum housing code defeated by voters Tuesday and he was reported to have said to county officials only Wednesday that the results showed "the people would rather have a 'love-in' than a look-in."

Born in Wolbach, Mr. Bartunek had practiced law in Lincoln since his graduation from the University of Nebraska Law College in 1922.

Mr. Bartunek was a candidate for state senator from the 19th district in 1954 and 1958, for the City Council in 1955 and 1957, for district judge in 1960, mayor in 1963 and for the University of Nebraska Board of Regents in 1966.

In 1964, Mr. Bartunek was a candidate for the Republican gubernatorial nomination.

He was defeated in all of the elections, but remained a frequent speaker at city and county government meetings.

"My civic activities are mainly concerned with holding

James Ward Is New Director Of 3 Lincoln Groups

James Ward, presently the manager of the Downtown Development Council in Rock Island, Ill., is the new director of the Lincoln Center Development Association, the Lincoln Promotion Council and the Lincoln Park and Shop Association, it was announced Friday.

Ward, a 1956 graduate of Southwest Missouri State College, has attended two years of postgraduate seminar in organizational management and was admitted to the Academy of Organizational Management in 1966. His appointment to the Lincoln post will be effective Dec. 1.

Ward's background includes three years as manager of the Keokuk, Iowa, Chamber of Commerce and four years as manager of the Shenandoah, Iowa, Chamber of Commerce.

the line on unnecessary spending and excessive taxation at local levels of government," Mr. Bartunek once said.

In 1961, Mr. Bartunek was instrumental in getting a full basement put in Bennett Martin Library, which he said could be used as a bomb shelter and would enable the library to have room for future expansion.

Mr. Bartunek was a member of the Lincoln Bar Association, State Bar Association, National Bar Association and a former member of the Nebraska National Guard. He was a self-employed lobbyist in 1957.

Surviving Mr. Bartunek are his wife, Margaret; son, Edward of Minneapolis, Minn.; daughters, Mrs. Emil L. (Margaret) Beranek and Mrs. Maurice (Eleanor) Fritz, both of Lincoln; sister, Mrs. I. F. Gillen of Lincoln; and 11 grandchildren.

County Officials Express Sorrow

Lancaster County officials expressed sorrow on hearing of the death of Leo Nelson Bartunek.

Commissioners William Grossman and Kenneth Bourne both indicated they were shocked at the news since Mr. Bartunek had been in the courthouse both Wednesday and Thursday.

Bourne said that the county board didn't always agree with Mr. Bartunek but he did have many good ideas and was sincerely interested in working for the taxpayers.

NU Law Students Tie Quarterfinal Moot Court Test

The University of Nebraska and the University of South Dakota tied Friday in the quarterfinals of the regional moot court competition this week in Kansas City, Mo., Federal District Court.

The Nebraska team includes Bill Harding and Leslie Bruce Wright, both of Lincoln, Bill Fenton of Greenleaf, Kan., and Tom Thomsen of Hastings.

The case will be reargued Saturday morning with the winner slated to oppose Washburn University of Topeka, Kan., in the semifinals.

NWU Staying Mum On 'Uses Of Drugs'

... COUNTY, POLICE SAY

Lancaster Chief Deputy County Attorney William Blue said Friday that Nebraska Wesleyan University officials had not contacted his office concerning four students allegedly expelled for the use of marijuana.

Both Blue and Lincoln police said Friday that they had not talked to these four students.

Blue said that one Wesleyan coed, who was not one of these four students, had been questioned by his office and released subject to call at the same time three Pershing College students were questioned, and subsequently two were charged with felony offenses in connection with possession of cannabis, a narcotic.

Could Be Fined
At that time Blue said that charges could be filed against the third Pershing student and Wesleyan coed at a later time if further investigation produced sufficient evidence to warrant the charges.

Meanwhile, faced with campus objections to the handling of the latest case, Wesleyan President Vance D. Rogers issued a statement saying all the suspended students had been advised of their right to appeal.

"The rights of the student as an individual have been guaranteed in each and every instance," Rogers said.

Suspended
He said Wesleyan policy is that "anyone involved in the use or possession of narcotics shall be suspended immediately."

The university's public relations department also distributed statements by two student leaders supporting the administration's action.

Tom Kimer, vice president of Blue Key honorary society, was quoted as saying, "I think there is some question that the students were treated fairly, but I have talked with President Rogers who outlined the full situation and I support the notion that the university has made every effort to protect the best interests of the students suspended."

Larry Miller, president of Cardinal Key women's honorary, was quoted as believing that two of the students had first said they were dealt with fairly and deserved to be dismissed but "now that they are gaining some student sympathy, they seemed to have changed their minds."

The Wesleyan student senate had Thursday authorized a petition criticizing the administration, and student leaders expressing opposition to the administration's actions had included the president of the student senate.

NU Debaters Taking Part In Regional Meet

Two University of Nebraska debate teams are competing in a regional tournament this weekend at Wichita State University in Kansas.

Team members are Glenn Christensen, Paxton; Carolyn Shea of 1921 Garfield in Lincoln; Sue Houchin, Kearney; and Douglas Willmann, Grand Island.

Dr. Donald O. Olson, director of debate at the University, said college and university debate teams from throughout the central U.S. will compete in the event.

BISHOP WELCOMED ... on return from world tour.

Copeland Lauds Missionary Work

Nebraska Methodist Bishop Kenneth Copeland returned to Lincoln Friday after a three-month tour of world missions with the opinion that "no group is doing a better job in international relations than Christian missionaries."

"I am very encouraged by the work of these people. They seem to have an even deeper commitment in this changing world situation," Bishop Copeland reported on his arrival here.

The bishop and Mrs. Copeland left in August for a world tour that included stops in Hawaii, Korea, Japan, Okinawa, Hong Kong, the Philippines, India, Pakistan, Turkey, Iran, Israel, Greece and Switzerland.

The trip was a personal assignment from the Council of Bishops.

Bishop Copeland reported briefly to the Methodist Council of Bishops that was in session when he arrived in the United States last week.

The head of the Methodist Church in Nebraska, he indicated that the missions are "greatly in need of increased financial help."

Formal Report
He said he would be formulating specific recommendations later for the missions he visited. The first formal report of his trip will be at Nebraska Wesleyan University Nov. 29.

"Korea was the highlight of our trip," Bishop Copeland declared. "The Korean people are warm and friendly. The church has grown tremendously even under the tense situation of North Korean infiltration."

On each stop the bishop and his wife participated in church ceremonies, talked with church, government, civic and military leaders and the "man on the street."

Several Lincoln Methodist ministers and members of the Methodist headquarters staff and their wives were on hand at the airport to greet the Copelands on their arrival.

Brown Officials To Protest Request For Temporary Hospital Fund Delay

Ainsworth (P)—Brown County Hospital Board members, commissioners and others plan to protest to the Nebraska Hospital Board Monday a request that they temporarily relinquish funds appropriated

State Hospital Administrator Verne Pangborn this week asked the hospital board to delay a bid opening scheduled in January and give funds appropriated for Brown County to other Nebraska hospitals.

Pangborn indicated that money can then be re-appropriated to Brown County when new federal funds are available in July, according to a county spokesman.

The federal funds involved represent 40% of the total cost of the hospital. The county has been waiting for Hill-Burton funds since its share of the cost was approved by the voters nearly four years ago.

Autopsy Ordered In Girl's Death

Omaha (UPI) —Acting County Coroner George Sullivan said Friday he has ordered an autopsy into the death of Crystal Ann Gould, 20, Omaha.

The girl was found lying across the seat of a car in the family garage Thursday evening.

Sullivan said the results of the autopsy probably wouldn't be known until next week.

Breakins Said Alike; Vaults Not Entered

By The Associated Press
Two central Nebraska co-operative credit associations which provide banking services to their communities were broken into early Friday in what appeared to be related burglaries.

The breakins were reported at Dunning, a Blaine County village of slightly more than 200 residents, and Litchfield, a community of about 270 in Sherman County located about 65 miles southeast of Dunning.

In both instances the burglars were unable to enter the vaults, but at Dunning they got a small amount of change from a cash drawer, Blaine County Attorney Joseph J. Davis reported.

Knob Off Safe
In Dunning the burglars broke into the Dunning Co-Op Credit Association through a rear window, and after rummaging through drawers, knocked the knob off the safe. They were unable to open it however.

At Litchfield, John Lang, manager of the Litchfield Co-Op Credit Association, said the burglars pushed in an air conditioner mounted in a rear window, went through drawers and then knocked the dial off the vault door releasing tear gas, which apparently drove them off.

Lang said a check revealed that no money was missing. The similarity of the break-ins led investigators to believe that the same persons were responsible for both attempts.

Fire Damages Auto Shop At Lincoln School

A fire in the auto mechanics shop at Lincoln Northeast High School Friday morning caused heavy damage to the shop area and inflicted heat and smoke damage to adjacent portions of the building, Fire Department officials said.

Firemen said that the fire, which broke out about an hour before classes were to begin, also damaged two vehicles in the shop area.

The blaze apparently started in the welding rod storage area and spread to combustible materials in the general storage area, firemen said.

Officials said the fire may have been caused by a welding spark, although the welding shop had not been used since 9:20 Thursday evening.

Intense heat was the cause of much of the damage to the shop, firemen said.

Officials said gas from acetylene tanks added fuel to the blaze when the tanks discharged under pressure.

Alert Motorist's Tip Catches 2 Suspects In Fatal Shooting

Del Norte, Colo. (P) — A tip from an alert motorist Friday led to the arrest of two men sought in connection with Thursday's fatal shooting of Joe Stout, 48, of South Fork, Colo.

Rio Grande County Sheriff Forrest Robran said an unidentified motorist notified the sheriff's office that two men were attempting to hitch a ride near Del Norte.

Arrested were Richard Lynn Kurtz, 20, and Epifirio Jesse Barrientos, 24, both of Omaha, Neb. A third man, Kenneth Twyford, 22, also of Omaha, turned himself in shortly after the robbery of a local supermarket was thwarted by Stout.

Twyford said the two other men forced him to take part in the robbery.

Stout was shot to death after he surprised the burglars inside the store. He was attempting to help the store owner, L. B. McClung, apprehend the two men and hold them for the sheriff.

McClung said a 20-gauge shotgun was found about 20 feet from where Stout was shot. Stout had apparently taken the keys from the burglars' car, which bore Nebraska plates, and thrown them away just before he was killed.

Lincoln Banks Reveal Stock Plan Involving Fremont Firms

Glenn Yaussi, chairman of the board of the National Bank of Commerce in Lincoln, announced Friday a plan for the stockholders of NBC to be offered rights to purchase ownership in the Fremont First National Company and the Fremont First State Company.

These companies own control of the First National Bank of Fremont and the First State Bank, also of Fremont.

A registration has been filed with the Securities and Exchange Commission, Yaussi explained, and approval is being sought from banking authorities.

If a majority of NBC stockholders purchase a majority of the shares of these companies, Yaussi said, it will mean that the two Fremont banks will join NBC and Lincoln Bank South as affiliated banks.

The present officers, staffs, and boards of directors will continue to manage the Fremont banks, according to Yaussi. W. N. Mitten is president of the First State Bank, and J. D. Schiermeyer serves as head of the First National Bank.

Directors and officers of the Fremont First National Company and the Fremont First State Company are to be identical. They are as follows: Gene H. Tallman, chairman of the board; William M. Mitten, vice chairman; Yaussi, president and treasurer; Paul J. Amen, executive vice president and secretary; L. D. Schiermeyer, executive vice president; Phil L. Sidles, Arthur C. Sidner, James Stuart, Avery E. Forke, and Harry P. Seward.

Stroh Heads State's School Administrators

By LUCILLE HOWARD
Star Staff Writer

Donald L. Stroh, superintendent of the Millard Public Schools, Friday was elected president of the Nebraska Association of School Administrators at the annual meeting here.

Stroh will succeed Dr. Eugene Miller, principal of Grand Island High School, when his term as president expires in March.

The principal of Kearney Junior High School, Harold McClure, was elected first vice president. Dr. Vaughn Phelps, superintendent of the Westside Schools in Omaha, was named second vice president. Scott Norton of Lincoln is executive secretary.

Miss Louise McNiff of Denver, Colo., supervisor of instruction in the Denver Public Schools, keynoted sessions on sex education for some 350 school superintendents and administrators at the two-day conference.

"Schools have had a tendency to stay out of controversial areas," she said, but the lack of proper instruction in school "has not kept kids from learning about sex. They are faced with it constantly."

A combined effort of the home, church and school is necessary for successful sex education of youths, the school officials were told.

Reporting on the Denver sex education, family life education and human reproduction program approved by the school board for the entire system in 1949, Miss McNiff indicated she felt "the program has been very successful."

"The success depends on keeping parents informed," she added. "Parents generally have approved our school's reinforcement of home education."

The Nebraska educators were told about the various grade levels in which sex education is taught and about the development of curriculum and audio-visual aids for classes.

However, Miss McNiff emphasized, the correct choice of a well-trained teacher who can discuss the subject with dignity and openness is "absolutely essential to the success of the program."

In a panel following the address, Omaha physician Dr. Byron B. Oberst declared that "medicine and education have to come closer together than they ever have."

Schools are "the natural medium" for sex education, he said, agreeing with a Lincoln minister, Dr. Robert Palmer, who complained that "we're allowing the culture around us to give our kids sex education. Someone needs to correct the information they are getting."

The N.A.S.A. members approved a resolution declaring that the state aid to education "should be for the general support" of schools and "supplemental to the local community effort by not restricting the local support."

Administrators also called for full funding of the state aid legislation.

Other resolutions passed by the group called for exclusion of public schools from sales tax, changing categorical federal aid for schools to general aid, and changes in the retirement law which would provide 50% of salary based upon the highest five-year period of earnings after a minimum of 20 years service in the state.

Boy, Girl Scout Sales Not Tax Exempt—State

State Tax Commissioner Murrell B. McNeil said Friday the sales to the public made by the Campfire Girls, Girl Scouts and Boys Scouts are not exempt from the 2½% sales tax.

He said the 1967 Revenue Act grants only specific exemptions, and these organizations were not specifically set out in the act.

"The tax commissioner is not given the power to expand these exemptions," he noted.

Occasional Sales

Occasional sales are listed as an exemption, but an occasional sale "no longer exists when more than one purchase er and one transaction is involved."

The Boy Scout, Girl Scout and Campfire Girls sales involve more than one purchase and one transaction and, therefore, may not be considered an occasional sale, he said.

McNeil said the amount of the tax should be stated in the sale because the amount of the tax — exclusively a consumer liability — is imposed on the sale "and not on these fine organizations."

In collecting and remitting this tax, the seller acts only as an agent of the state and is entitled to a 3% fee on the tax collected.

Burlington RR Asks To End Omaha-Lincoln-Denver Runs

Burlington Railroad officials filed with the Interstate Commerce Commission Friday for permission to cancel Trains 7 and 8 between Omaha and Denver. Both trains run via Lincoln.

Figures filed with the commission compared revenues and expenses during 1965, 1966 and the first six months of 1967. The figures showed a loss of $64,982 during the first six-month period.

Burlington officials, who asked that the cancellation be made effective Dec. 17, pointed out that service to Denver between Lincoln and Omaha will continue on the California and Denver Zephyrs.

Increased expenses over the first six months of this year — including an approximately $10,000 increase in crew wages and an approximately $5,000 increase in health and welfare benefits and payroll taxes — together with about a $75,000 decrease in mail revenues appeared largely responsible for the deficit reported by Burlington.

Passenger, express and newspaper revenues held about steady, and expenses for passenger car maintenance, locomotive fuel and repair and station facilities appeared down somewhat but not enough to offset the deficit.

Train 7 leaves Omaha at 4 p.m., Lincoln at 5:45 p.m., and arrives in Denver at 4:45 a.m. Train 8 leaves Denver at 11:15 p.m., arrives in Lincoln at 3:45 p.m. after nearly a five-hour layover in McCook and arrives in Omaha at 5:50 p.m.

Other Nebraska towns along the route include Crete, Fairmont, Sutton, Hastings, Minden, Holdrege, Oxford and Benkelman.

"It was their decision, not ours," said university President Fred Harrington.

The announcement came less than 24 hours after it was disclosed that 200 riot-equipped sheriff's deputies and policemen from 21 counties would be on hand to maintain order.

The Navy and Marines planned to go ahead as scheduled with their plans to conduct on-campus interviews Monday, the university said.

Denney Favors Ethics Code On Disclosing Assets

Washington (UPI) — Rep. Robert Denney, R-Neb., said he favors an ethics code regarding the disclosure of outside assets by congressmen.

In a poll of freshman lawmakers by United Press International, Denney said he feels constituents would have greater confidence in their lawmakers if a code of ethics is adopted "and we abide by it."

State—More Nebraskans Seeking Work

Nebraskans seeking work during October increased 6% since last year while persons placed on jobs across the state decreased by about 13% over the same period, the State Department of Labor's Division of Employment reported Friday.

Division officials said that the total number of persons seeking work was 8,193 as compared to 7,734 last October, and that the total number of persons placed on jobs was 5,399, a decrease from the 6,213 figure reported last year.

Agriculture placements, down because of a delayed crop season and a slow start on the usual autumn harvest, were blamed for the decrease in total placements.

Placement of handicapped workers, however, continued to increase, showing almost a 5% increase above last October, officials said.

Initial claims for unemployment insurance were slightly down from a year ago, but continued claims increased 31%, officials reported. Seasonal and small plant layoffs were the main reason for the increase, they said.

Meet Opens Here On Instruction Of Mental Retarded

More than 100 teachers of trainable mentally retarded children opened sessions here Friday to develop recommendations for desirable models of programs for such children.

Several representatives of the state, public and private schools in Nebraska gave brief presentations on classroom activities and administrative procedures to help special education personnel in the curriculum development.

In its two-day meeting the group will also consider reconciling program models to local school conditions and observe teaching techniques for dealing with mentally retarded children.

Miss Bredthauer is ROTC Choice

Kathryn Bredthauer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dale Bredthauer of Grand Island, is the first sweetheart of the Scarlet Berets, the University of Nebraska Army ROTC organization of exceptional cadets.

A university freshman, Miss Bredthauer was awarded the honorary rank of major.

Funds Remain For Sewage Work Grants

Nebraska Water Pollution Control Council Secretary T. A. Filipi announced Friday that funds are still available for grants this year to governmental subdivisions for construction of sewage treatment facilities.

Filipi said approximately $456,210 in federal funds may go by the boards if there are no takers.

He urged interested communities to act rapidly, noting that next year will be a heavy construction year and sufficient money may not be available to meet all requests.

The Water Pollution Control Council also announced it will hold a special meeting at 1 p.m., Dec. 12, in the State Capitol.

Council Chairman T. C. Reeves said the meeting's purpose is to discuss and prepare a final draft of proposed rules and regulations relating to feed lot wastes and a final draft of state water quality standards which will be sent to the Department of Interior.

Auto Dealers Board Tables Ethics Code

The Nebraska Motor Vehicle Dealers License Board Friday temporarily tabled a proposed advertising ethics code and called for an extensive enforcement test of existing laws regarding fraudulent or misleading advertising by auto dealers.

Adoption of state regulations or guidelines based on the National Automobile Dealers Association's model advertising code has been under discussion by the board for several months.

The Nebraska New Car Dealers Association generally feels "what is on the statute books is sufficient for the present" and should be given a real test, Association President Bill Mowbray of Lincoln told the board.

Unnecessary

He indicated further stiffening of the law by regulations might be unnecessary or unworkable at this time.

The board was also told, "If the regulations are made too tight, a dealer might have to hire an attorney to write his advertising copy."

In an apparent first test of its new enforcement policy, the board voted to call two Lincoln auto dealers for an informal hearing regarding a complaint against them for fraudulent and misleading advertising.

Cited By Board

Cited by the board were Godfredson Motor Co. of 4714 Prescott and Auto Sales Inc. of 1021 N. 48th.

Complaining dealers in a Nov. 17 letter to the board were O'Shea Rogers Motor Co., Randolph Olds, Kirk Motors and DeBrown Auto Sales.

... give us hearts of gratitude on this Thanksgiving Day. May the dignity and the solemnity of the occasion of Thanksgiving warm our hearts as individuals, as families, as nations. As we express gratitude for the favors of mercy, may we be conscious of the fact... they all come from God. May we know the full meaning of historic Plymouth landing. Let us be reminded anew that freedom began there... and to worship God according to the dictates of our own hearts was guaranteed when the Pilgrim Fathers stepped ashore. Then, let us not fail to humbly recognize God as the Giver of life,—the Provider of all goods,—and the Savior of the souls of men... AMEN

for good. Every man, woman and child needs
the influence of the church. So, come let us go into the house of the Lord. Let us support her program of service to humanity, be a faithful worker and attend services regularly.
